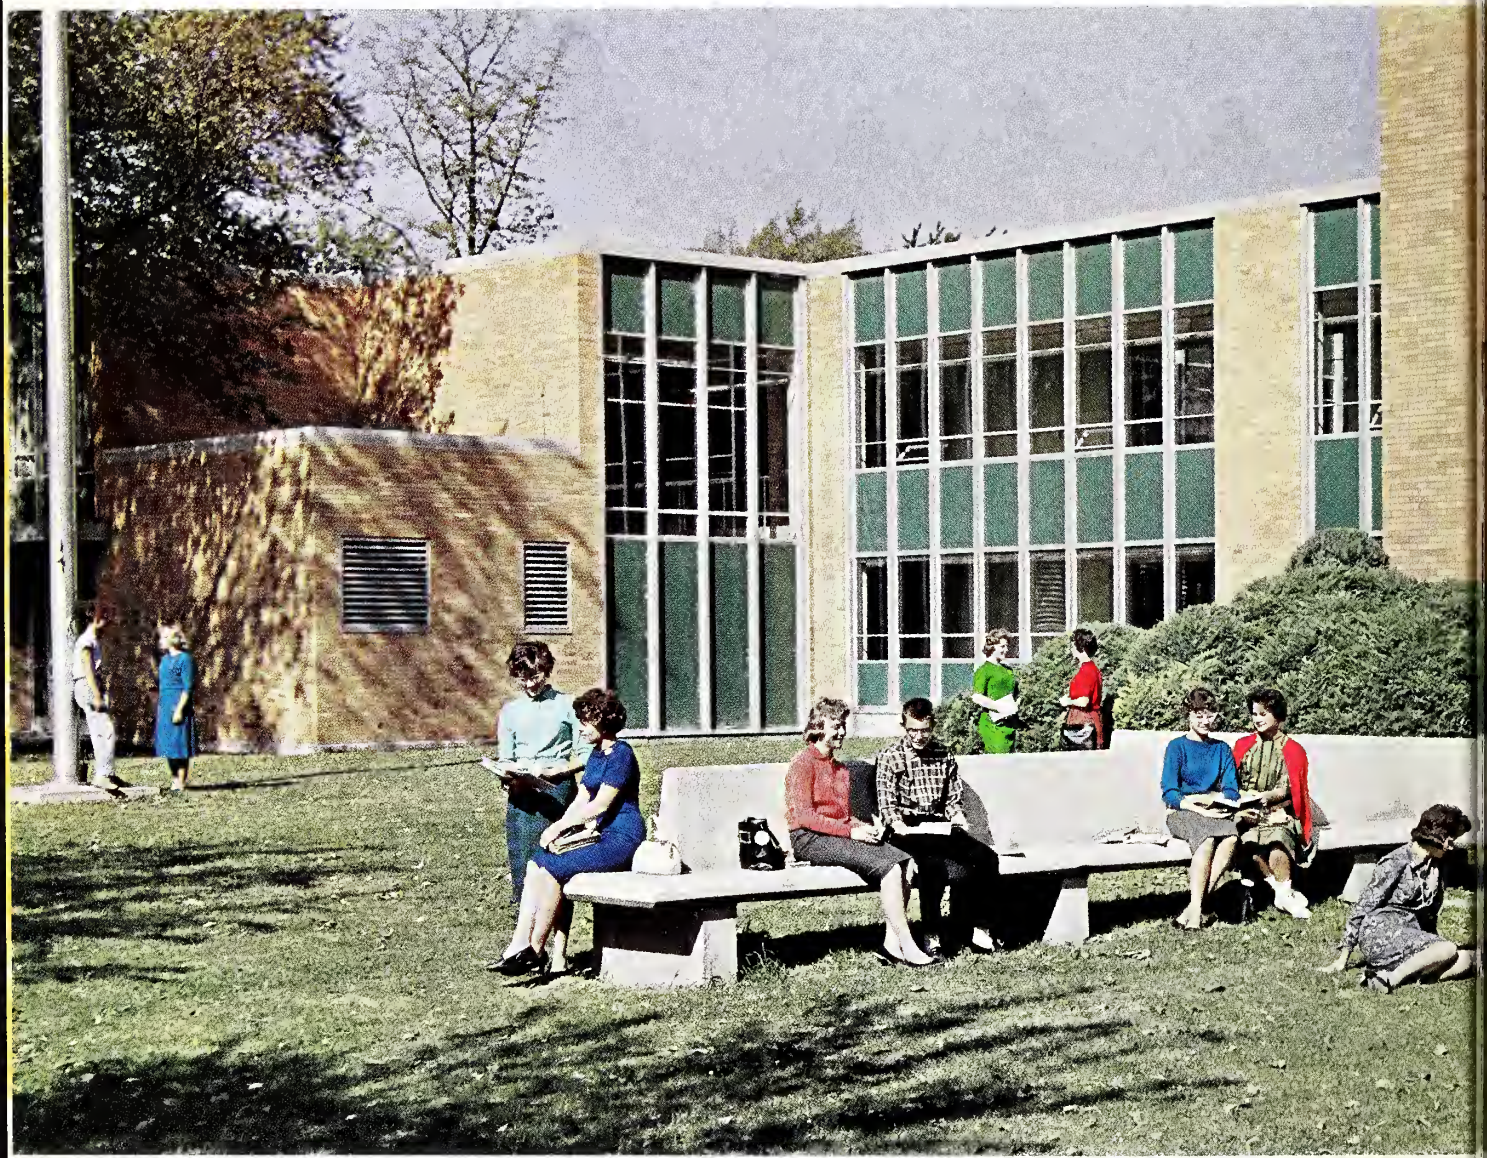
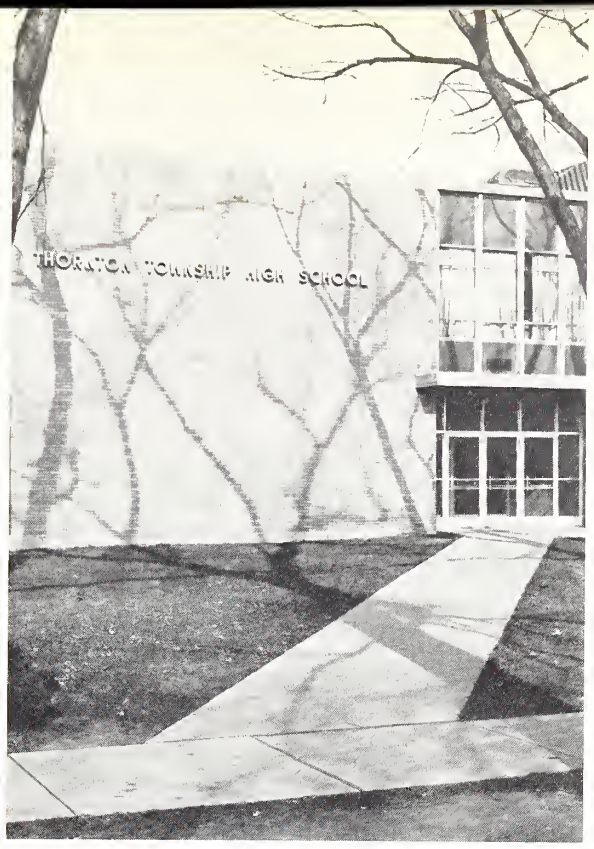
Something new, Something old . . .



T-BENCH—old in tradition but new in construction to replace the old bench where the new wing now stands.

that is Thornton



SOUTH ENTRANCE with its new clock—no need to be late!

Thornton is old and, at the same time, new.
We saw the T-bench and the new clock, the Lincoln statue and the new display case in the Technical Building. Halls were bright and cheerful or dark and friendly;
stairs were smooth marble or worn cement;
entrances were big or small.
Classrooms were remodeled, departments were moved, teachers came and left.
The years past have left us a tradition that all recognize as the spirit of Thornton.

K.I.P. BOARD meets in the new office.

Thornton combines past and present for a great future

Student council is the epitome of Thornton. The K.I.P. program of student participation gives education a meaning and prepares the student for a successful adult life as a citizen.

A STUDENT COMMITTEE of Dick Hough and John Fyler meet with Mr. Renfrow to discuss council problems.

BOYS CLUB OFFICE–Bob Johnson and Claude Kracik make plans with Mr. Anderson, assistant dean.

Boys Club this year welcomed a new adviser and dean of boys, Mr. Mel DeGraff. Boys again worked together on the duties of hallguards and bus guards and planned activities to interest all students. Christmas this year gave students a new look in Christmas trees–real snow. The tree was placed in one of the courts and decorated there, instead of indoors.

DECORATIONS – Jim Beauchamp and George Hedke put up the high ones on the tree.

TRADITIONAL DANCE of the Homecoming king and queen—Bob Caress, Sharyn Boudreau.

Tradition is a most important part of Thornton, but it changes from year to year. Spirit is an equally important aspect, and is what alters tradition. Homecoming tradition is old, but spirit is renewed each year. Traditional student honor has been considerably revised. More liberty in study hall and lunch gave us a chance to accept responsibility.

The spirit is new . . .

LIBERETS FLOAT in the Homecoming parade was colorful and interesting.

the traditions are old

LINCOLN STATUE is popular daily meeting place.

G.A.A. FLOAT at Homecoming—Alice Lambert, Gerrie Walczak, Judy Geiser, Arlene Massick, Kathy Rogers.

Games are old, Rules are new

JOLIET GAME—Glenn Becker is tackled.

Sports activities played a major part in student life at Thornton this year as they do in every year. Students attended, read about, talked about, and took part in games and other athletic contests. Homecoming weekend was a success—the parade and pep assembly were bigger and better, the game with Argo was full of action, and the dance on Saturday evening—"Aqua Magic," put an excellent finishing touch on the best homecoming yet. Through gym classes, athletic events, and organizations such as G.A.A., Thornton students gained knowledge of sports and sportsmanship and found enjoyment.

SOCCER—A fast game meant plenty of outdoor action for a girls gym class.

MICRO-PROJECTOR. Todd Cubbon and John Rice examine a new piece of equipment in Biology lab.

Biology department, art department, and library facilities were expanded in both space and equipment. Student library work was made easier and faster through effective and efficient reorganization of the two libraries. Those students who enrolled in art or biology courses had more space and better equipment with which to produce better work. Old methods were altered. The results benefited not only the student body and faculty but the entire Thornton community.

Methods are better, the equipment is better, and so are results

SOCIAL STUDIES LIBRARY. Donna Galloway and Gary Barker like the new books they find.

STILL-LIFE. Donna Street, Connie McClellan, William Allgood, Charles White paint new arrangement.

Counseling guides student aptitudes

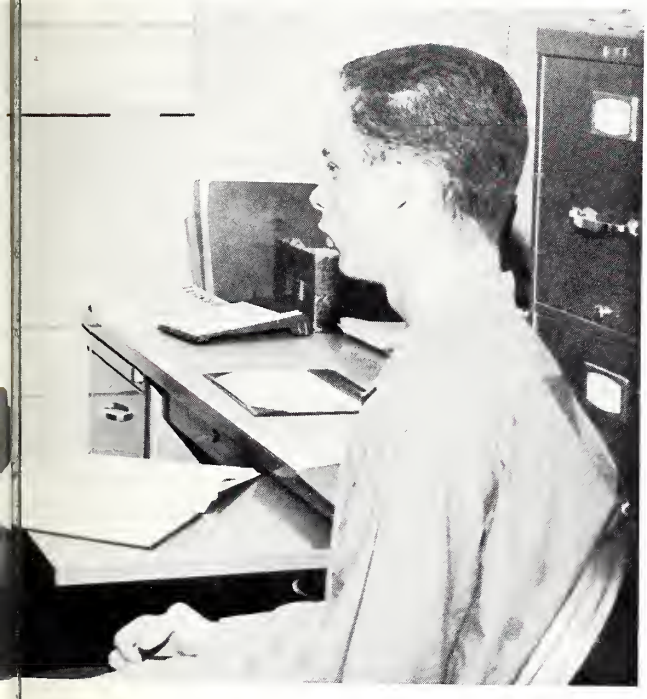
Counseling is considered very important at Thornton. Class counselors are always at hand when needed.
They solve problems as minor as program changes and as serious as failures and loss of credit.
College counseling was found to be more than helpful to upperclassmen who needed information and advice.
The deans had the usual big job of general conscientious guidance.

COUNSELING. Miss Helene Wilson, dean of girls, with Ruth Bischoff, president of Girls Club.

DEAN'S OFFICE. Mr. DeGraff has a committee meeting with two of his boys, Bob Dahl and Bill Dorner.

COLLEGE CATALOGS become very important—Karen Mooth, Bill Gedzun, Susie Crabtree, Wanda Billings eager to learn more.

COLLEGE COUNSELING. Mr. Beier with Steve Twining discussing his plans.

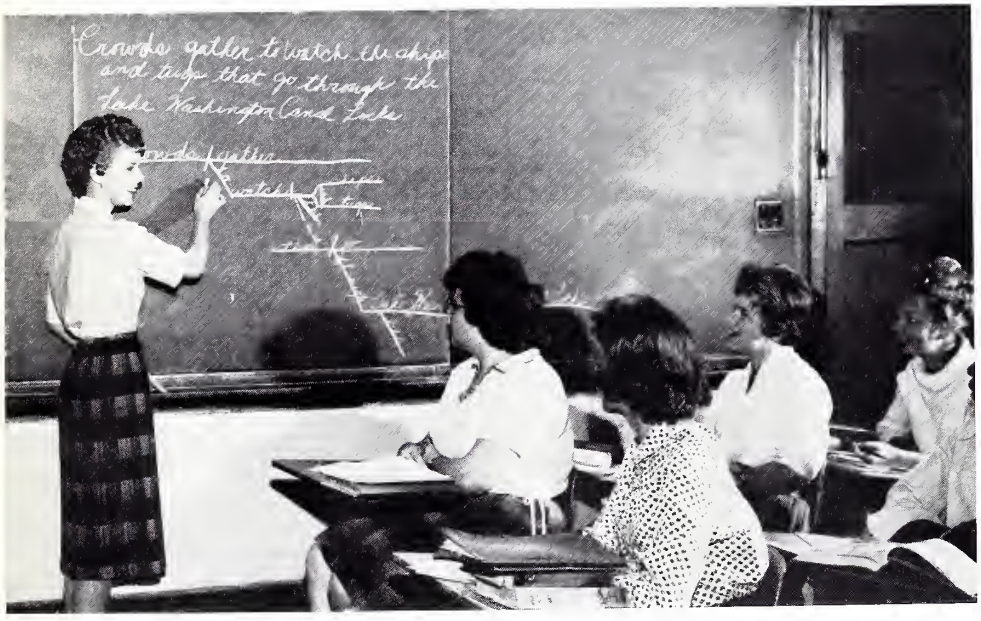


More students are college bound now

"Board tests, scholarships, application forms, catalogs—where will it all end?" seniors ask. College-bound students found that attending college takes a great deal of work prior to entering the school. Seniors spent much of their time filling out blanks for board and aptitude tests, for scholarship and admissions applications and for other materials.

ACT were important letters to college-bound seniors like Nancy Dunlap.

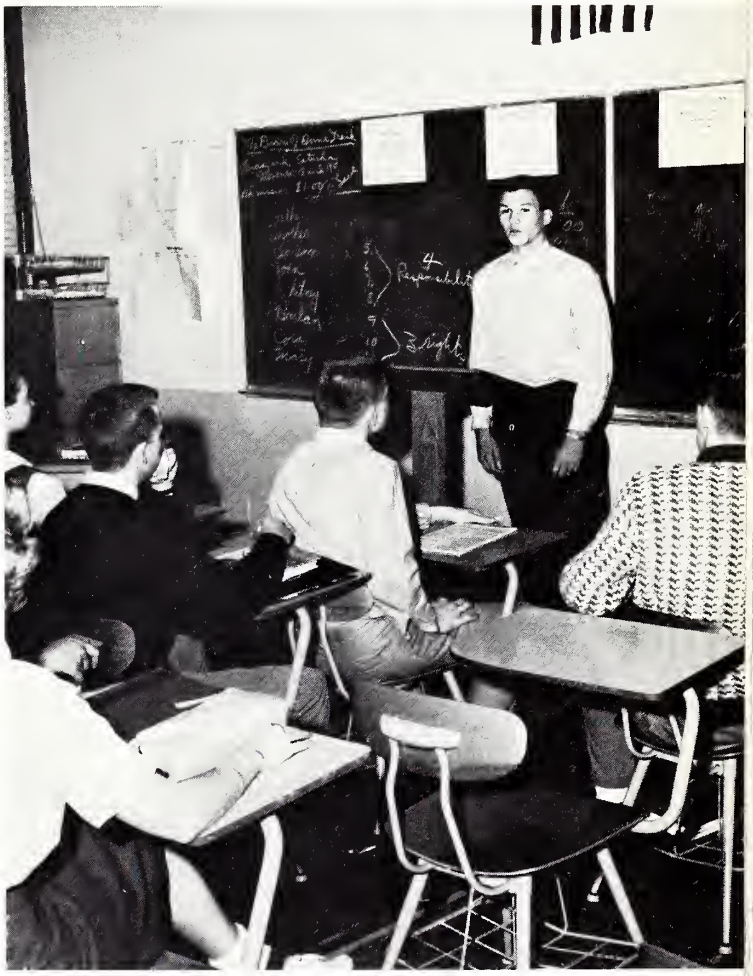
English classes combined old and new



DIAGRAMING—Judy Krause, a junior, explains a sentence diagram to her English class during grammar study.

NEWS BUREAU—Anna Harrill, Becky Bruhn, Carole Stark get instructions from Mrs. Wilkinson, director.

Fundamentals of English—written and spoken—are still a main part of the English curriculum, but some very modern teaching methods have been added. Sentence diagrams and research papers are as valuable as ever but leadership training class encourages better speaking habits. Members promote school affairs by speaking to large groups or small, whenever organization projects need their help.
News Bureau feeds school publicity material to community papers to keep the public informed of their school.



LEADERSHIP CLASS—Joe Jones at the podium.

MAIN LIBRARY — center for all research papers. Student helpers — Yvonne Williams, Donna Virgil, Roberta Lamp.

LAB ASSISTANTS—Lillie Mae Pearson jots down information as Doug Klaviter, George Waters, Tom Spindler, Sue Ellis operate the controls of the big console.

Foreign Language department offered students German, Latin, French, and Spanish. Ten faculty members emphasized audio-oral work through use of the new laboratory. With the help of government funds, Thornton was able to add a forty-booth laboratory, where language students had the opportunity of hearing tapes and to tape their own voices. Other additions to the department were the language office, a conference room, and a recording room. Remodeling of third floor, where physics and chemistry used to be, made the new set-up possible.

Language groups liked the new lab

LAB SESSION—Mrs. Germaine Fernandez at the control panel listens as her Spanish class responds to the tape recordings. Any or all booths may be tuned in.

READING—Mrs. Joan Ross conducts a special class.

English added speech, reading centers

SPEECH TESTING—Preliminaries were conducted in the halls. Miss Florene Pell interviews Greg Landowski and Patricia Jones outside an English class.

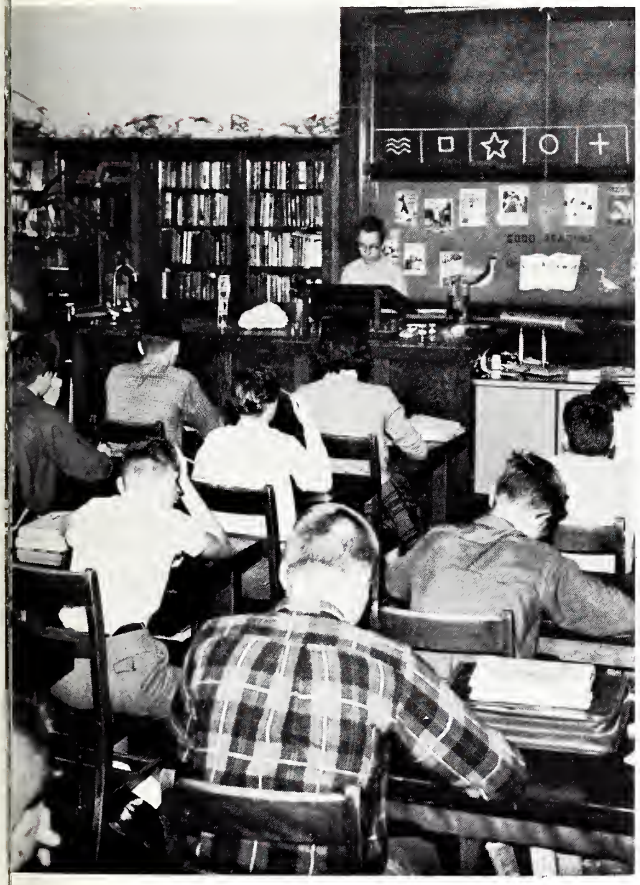
Speech correction and special reading classes were two additions to Thornton's English curriculum. Mrs. Joan Ross taught the reading classes. They initiated a reading program aimed at reaching as many freshmen as possible who were reading below their grade level. Upperclassmen wishing to improve reading skills could also take the course. Material used ranged from second grade to college levels. Two new pacing machines helped with reading rate. Miss Florene Pell taught speech correction both at Thornton and Thornridge. Every freshman was tested by the therapist. Those who needed it were given individual corrective help at the speech center.

BIOLOGY—Terri Moreland, Laura Landry, study of stems.

Biology, Math courses are modern

Biology branch of the Science department had four teachers. Classes studied life in all forms— from the one-celled amoeba to the most complex organism, man. Students prepared projects for the Annual Science Exhibit, sponsored by the Illinois Academy of Sciences, and arranged displays in the hall cases on such topics as Sea Life and Fruits.
New equipment this year included a microprojector, photomicrography devices, and a binocular scope.

MATHEMATICS—Janice Yates checks Terry Borys' calculations on the slide rule in an Algebra II class.



BIOLOGY—Jim Abbott carries on a class experiment in extrasensory perception as part of a special science project.

Thornton's Mathematics department has changed some of its courses to meet curriculum demands. Advanced Algebra is now a semester honors course. Algebra II has become a full-year course for third year students, whereas it used to be only a semester alternate with Solid Geometry. Algebra I has become an honors course at the freshman level. Both ability and scholastic achievement are required for any of these accelerated classes.

MATH—Ed Sumner and Sue Amberg demonstrate to their class two ways to find common solutions of equations.

PHYSICS—A swinging pendulum fascinates Merry Ring, John Tilton, and Doug Liehr.

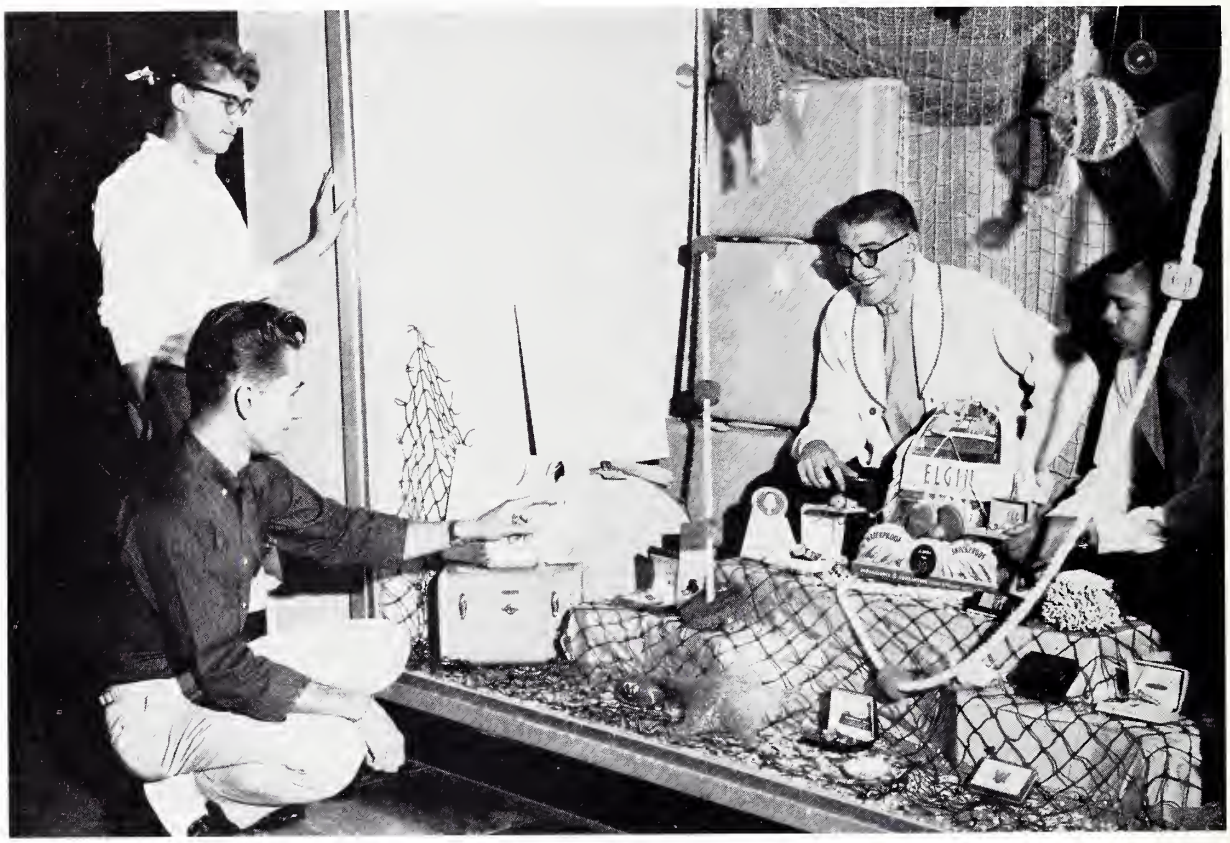
Science experiments, time-tested for their teaching value, are supplemented with new ones to keep Thornton students abreast of recent achievements. In chemistry, particularly, the new look is apparent. New furniture plus ample space and equipment have replaced the old third-floor labs. Completely modern quarters are now located at the north end of the main building where shops used to be. Two honor chemistry classes are given extra half-hour periods twice a week to allow more time for the performance of quantitative experiments.

CHEMISTRY—Janet Duley and Peter Wasilkoff enjoy the new equipment in one of the chemistry laboratories.

All sciences have the new look

GENERAL SCIENCE—Caroll Bitters and Tom Simac study earth-sun relations in a General Science class.

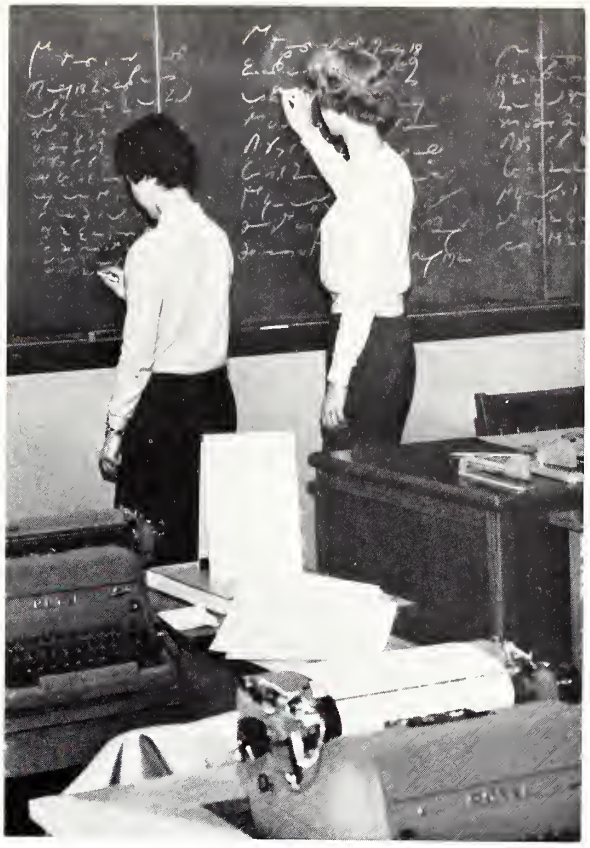
Business Education classrooms had new furniture



D. E. DISPLAY CASE—Distributive Education class prepares a merchandise display window. John Richardson and Edith Krauter, outside, watch Marv Keeling and Ron Wilson.

SECRETARIAL PRACTICE—Shirley Krueger uses a calculating machine such as she would find in a business office.

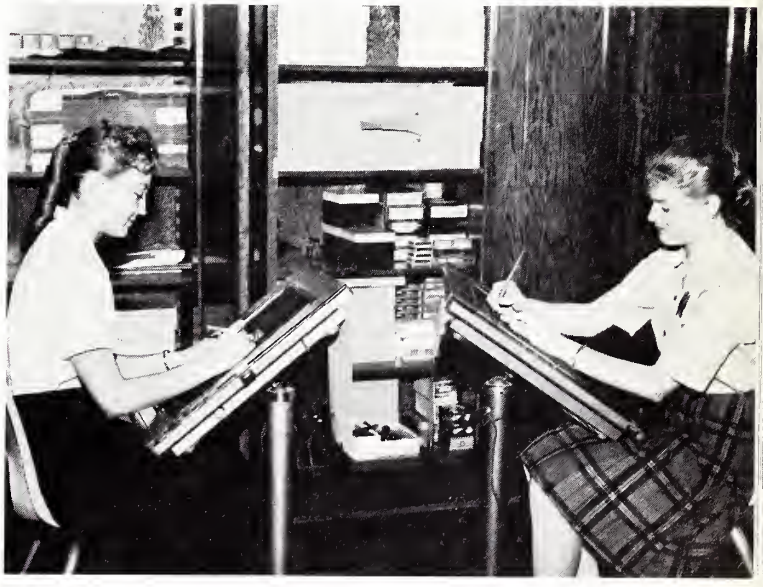
Business Education department has a faculty of seventeen and some very attractive classrooms. New furniture and new machines, in attractive colors, have been added. This year there were thirty-five new typewriters plus business machines such as electric comptometer, Underwood posting machine, dictaphone, and Ediphone. Newest course is Distributive Education. Students who enroll work part time in retail stores in Harvey. General Business classes toured local banks and secretarial students visited the National Office Machines display at the Conrad-Hilton. Bookkeeping students completed a set of books for a grocery store and secretarial classes had interviews with on-the-job secretaries. Selected groups prepared, presented, and taped sales talks for use in Retail Selling and Distributive Education classes.



SHORTHAND—Maryann Christian, Bette DeWaard.

TYPING I—Millie Golaszewski works intently.

SECRETARIAL PRACTICE—Judy Lattz, Virginia Lester using the mimeoscope to do some stencil-cutting.



HOMEMAKING—Paula Martch and Mary James demonstrate how to use the new washer-dryer combination.

CLOTHING—Barbara Miller fills a steam iron while Janice Diddia helps Janet Kaleta with a fitting.

Homemaking labs were entirely remodeled

CLOTHING—Sue Langhoff, Judy Franklin find the new machines can do more things than the old ones.

Girls in Homemaking I spent one semester in the clothing lab, learning sewing and the essentials of good grooming, and another semester in foods lab studying nutrition, child care, and meal planning. Homemaking II offered advanced work in both these fields. Later, in Homemaking III, girls solved real problems of budgeting, income, decoration, family relationships, and home nursing. Everyday Living was for students who did not plan majors in the department.

Thornton's Homemaking department was all remodeled last summer and fall. Every room was redecorated and new equipment added. The old Home Ec apartment was eliminated. Two clothing labs were separated by an all-purpose room where Everyday Living classes were held and where teachers could meet to discuss problems. All classes used it for lectures and movies. Clothing labs had new slant-needle Singer sewing machines that folded into the work tables like typewriters. Each girl had her own work tray that slid under the table like a drawer and held her equipment. There were fitting rooms and three-way mirrors and each lab had a built-in lavatory for clean-up. Foods labs were set up with push-button electric stoves and wall ovens. All refrigerators had freezers. Girls learned to operate their new Westinghouse washer and dryer.

HOMEMAKING—Lois Lohse uses the electric wall oven as Sharon Burton loads the new dishwasher.

Art classes offer

CRAFTS classes used all sorts of materials—Quille Dampier, Janet Anderson, Ellen Massoth show how.

DRAWING AND PAINTING—Jim DeYoung uses Kathy Graefen for his model as he puts in the outline.

CERAMICS—Carol Dunham, Donald Warino, Nancy Schaaf working at the table. Donna Virgil, standing.

Thornton's Art department came in for its share of remodeling. Classrooms across the corridor from the older section (formerly used for Math and English) relieved much of the pressure from overcrowding. Additions were an art office, a room for basic art, and some much-needed storage space. As in other departments, work was not completed by the time school began. Unpacking, therefore, had to wait while classroom work was begun. Art Heritage, a new half-hour course, was designed to show students how to enjoy art through understanding it. Christmas in the halls and a big tree in the courtyard were projects of the whole Art department.

students a chance to be creative

PAPER SCULPTURE brought out some funny faces. Brad Larson puts them up; Bill DeRooy, James Durish cut.

Have you ever wanted to express your ideas on paper in chalk, water color, oil paint, or ink? Have you ever desired to be creative—working with clay, crafts materials, or metals? If you have ever wanted to do any of these, Thornton's Art department is for you.

BUSINESS LAW—David Falica, Eileen Powers, Don Somkovic, Betty Thomas, Rosetta Ellison, David McRoberts study laws pertaining to the making of wills.

SOCIAL STUDIES LIBRARY—While Pat Walters, Orrel Kauffman, Patricia Hoest, Roger Weseloh, Martha Hillman read, Michaelene Wadolny hunts new material.

COMBINED STUDIES offered variety—Susie Cross, writing; Willie Mae Redmond, John Chiaramonte, Lu Jackson, painting; Linda Williams, Imogene Steekley, ironing.

Social Studies and Social Studies, next to English, has the largest faculty. History, psychology, business law, and geography are courses offered besides Social Studies and Sociology. A new course is called Modern Problems. Students discuss current affairs on local, national, and international levels. Combined Studies is another new course. Special provisions have been made to meet the needs of exceptional students who would otherwise have to drop out of school.

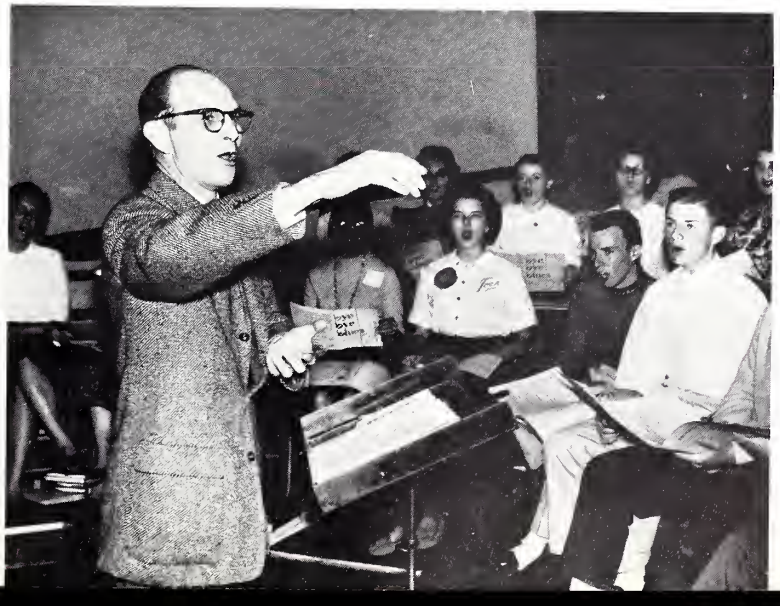
BAND—Mr. Lyle Hopkins, director.

Music department has played a big role in Thornton life. Besides the old familiar choral groups, the bands, and the programs at Christmas and in the spring, new projects and courses appeared this year. General Music, for freshmen, was revised. For the first time in several years, the Christmas program was presented in the auditorium instead of the gym, making possible better staging and lighting. In May, a festival of arts program combined music, art, and drama. A newly organized wind ensemble, more selective in personnel, was trained, and a dance band laboratory initiated.

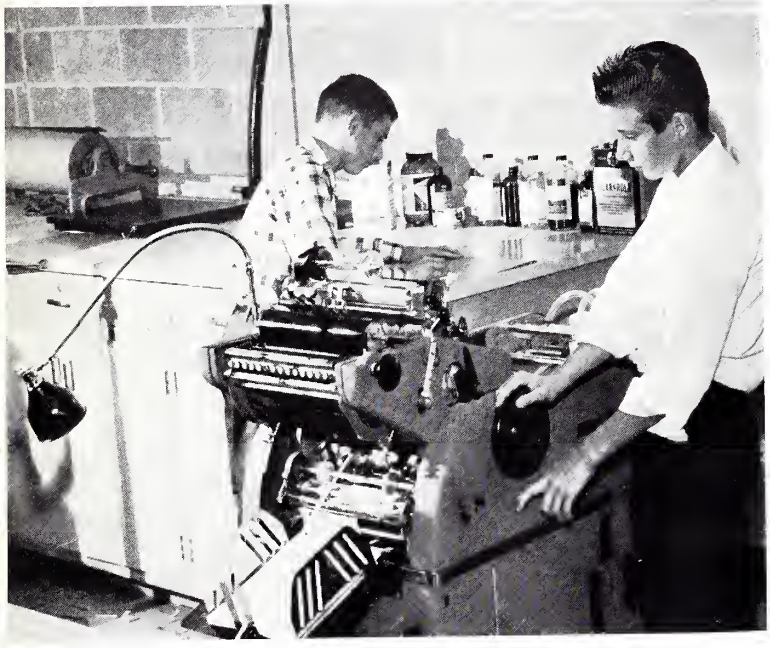
MUSIC LIBRARY—Sandy Shepard, Christine Cent.

Music courses were popular

CHORUS—Mr. Walter Armbruster directing.



Graphic Arts shops offered a variety of training experiences



OFFSET PRINTING—Chuck Hedtke and Gerald Van Drunen learn to operate the new offset press.

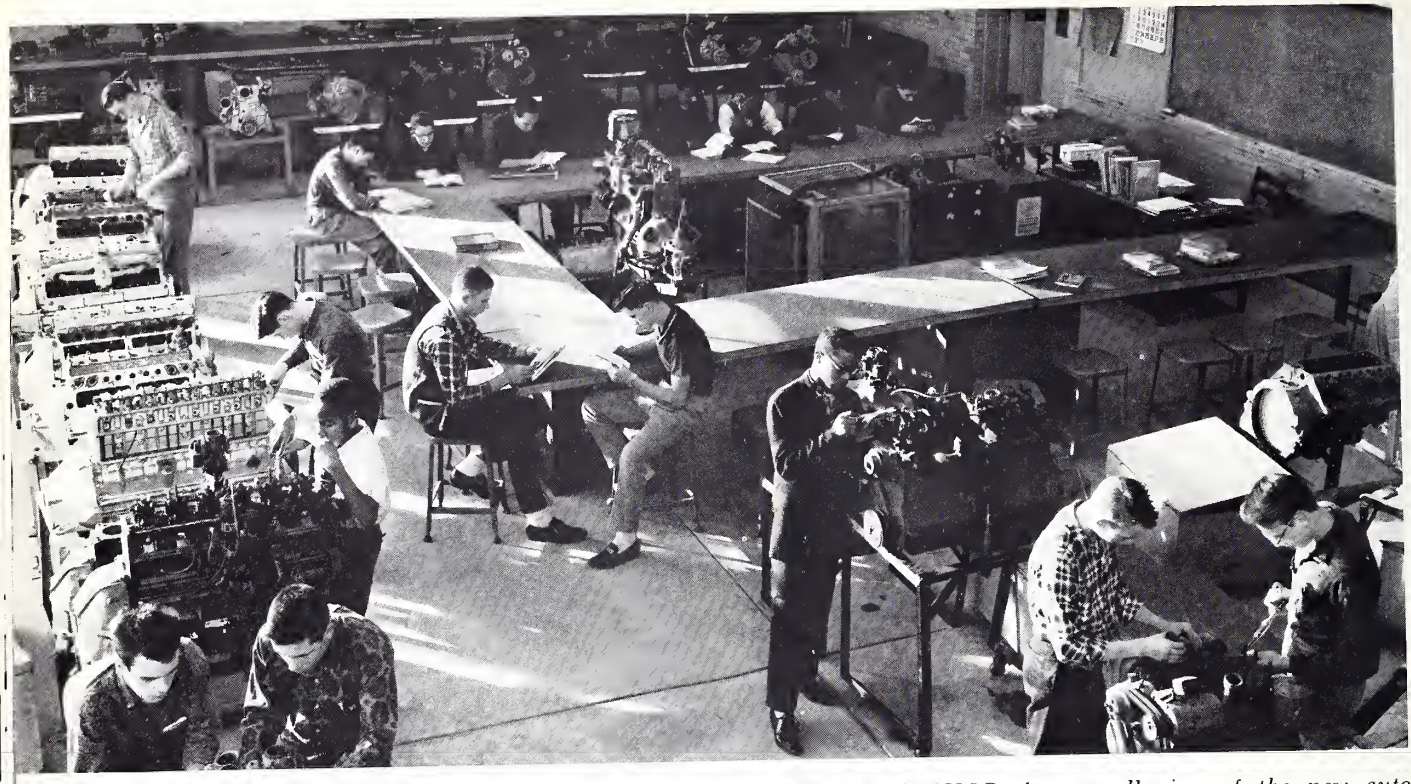
Students of printing prepared most of the forms and stationery used by the school this year. Print shop students became proficient at hand composition on the job cases. Offset printing process enabled boys to get a broader outlook on the rapidly advancing printing industry through one of the newest and most efficient ways of printing, but the offset process was limited to advanced students. Although printing class this year enrolled only twenty-four boys, there will be more next year. Girls will be numbered among the class, too.

TYPESETTING—Glenn Becker, Don Millsap, Bill Goodrich, Barry Thomas compose type from job cases.

MECHANICAL DRAWING—Mr. Sutor clears up a puzzling problem for Tom Redvay as Mark Saari looks on.

Mechanical Drawing students were taught basic principles of drafting. They drew such devices as drill presses, lathes, and jointers, all to exact scale. Over the years, the department has collected a file of some one thousand prints, now available for students to use. Added to classroom equipment were a number of chalk masters and track masters. Graphic arts students experimented with several types of printing. They used photos, silk screens, and linoleum blocks to get various effects.

DRAFTING—Latest equipment in self-adjusting drafting tables was a matter of departmental pride.

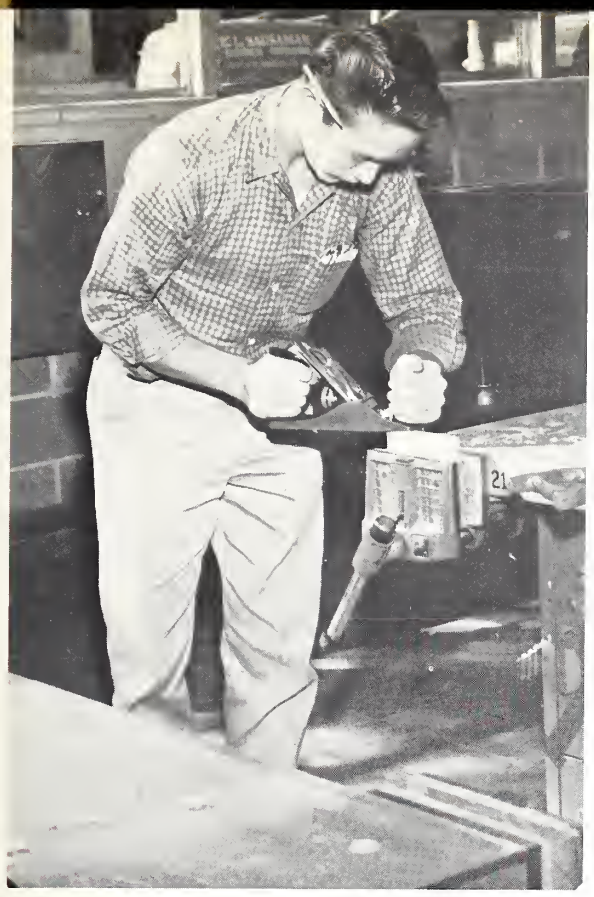


AUTO SHOP—An over-all view of the new auto shop, from the storage balcony, shows general layout.

Planned extension

MACHINE SHOP—Ed Sylvestrak changes a wheel on a grinder as the instructor, Mr. Lemmon, looks on.

New auto and machine shops were ready in time for second semester. Plans had been made for them when the building was put up, but lack of money delayed their construction. New types of lighting and new equipment were evident. Wood shop students made tables, book racks, and record cabinets, which many of the boys gave as presents for Christmas. A new spray booth made possible the application of a beautiful finish. Building Trades class constructed model homes as part of their second semester list of projects on design and construction.

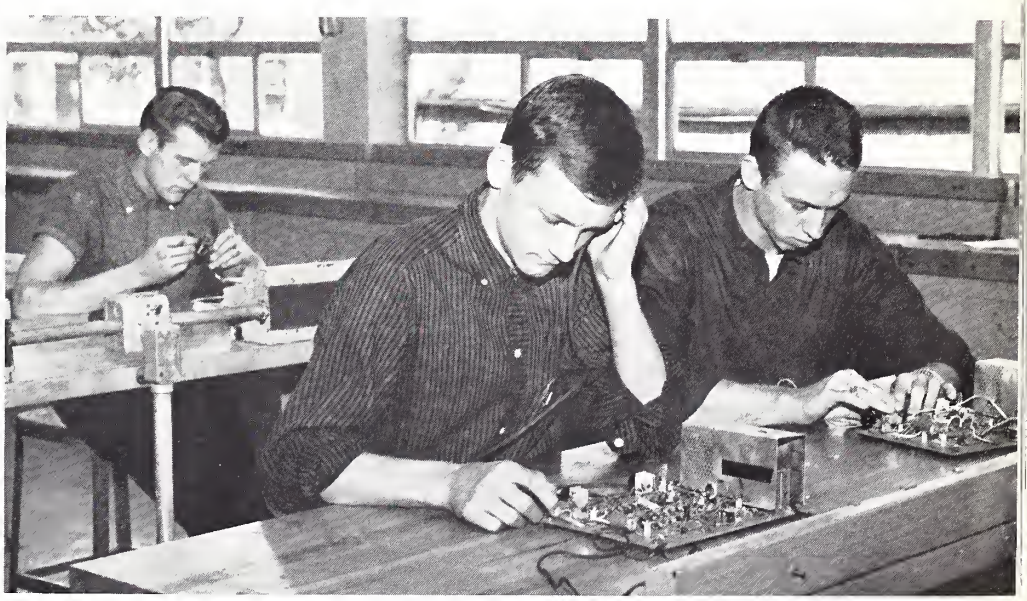


FROSH WOODWORKING—Michael Travers makes a book shelf.

ELECTRONICS—Doug Diggle, George Waters check tubes.

now a reality in shop facilities

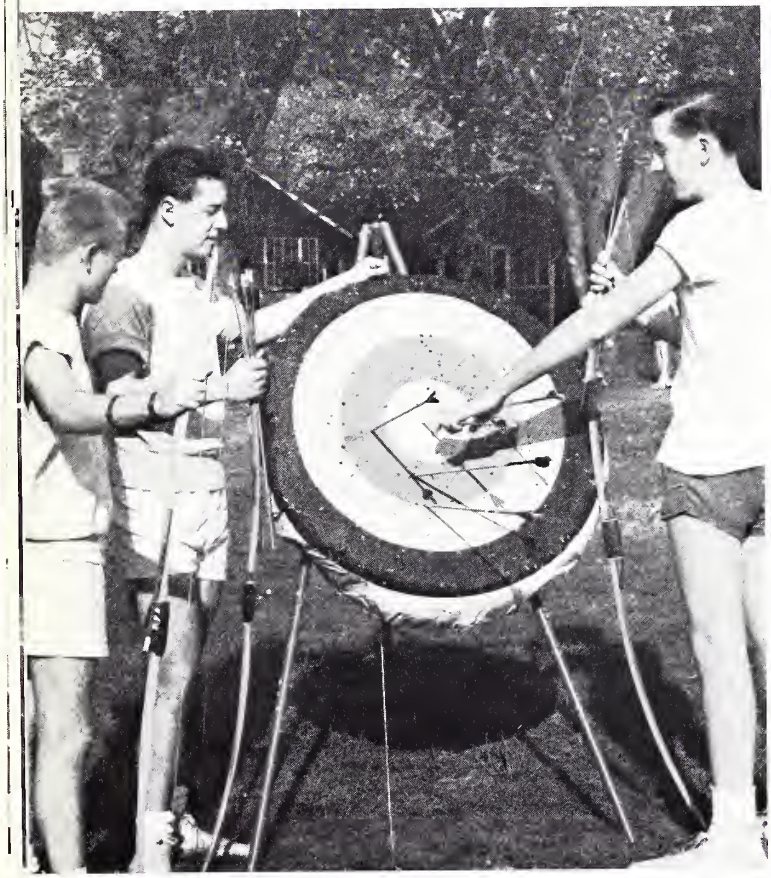
ELECTRIC SHOP—Edward Grzybowski, Bill Ek, and Don Golder work on their radio circuit projects.



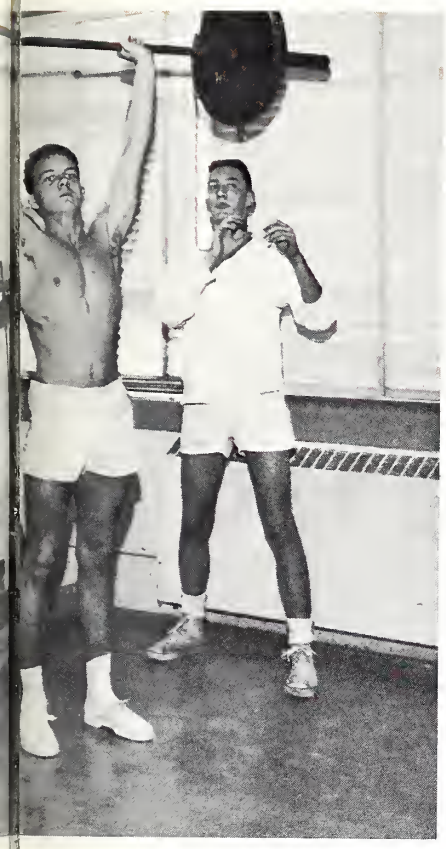
Active minds need healthy bodies - so boys take P. E.

Boys Physical Education program is becoming more extensive as each year passes. Boys receive top-notch instruction in a variety of body-building sports. Freshmen and sophomores are put into classes based on physical proficiency tests. These classes rotate through three stations with the same instructor. A new course of study is now under consideration. Swimming, wrestling, and basketball are on their list of sports. Individual and class exercises are also in the curriculum. Apparatus training plus first aid and hygiene complete the list.

ARCHERY—Ray Tillman, John Glazbrook, Bob Swoger.



WEIGHTLIFTING—Bill Pogue demonstrates the curl and Ed Davis the press. Bill Allgood and John Coutchie act as spotters to prevent accidents with weights.



TRAMPOLINE—Lew Barnhisel demonstrates.

MASS DRILL—Classes often had setting-up exercises.

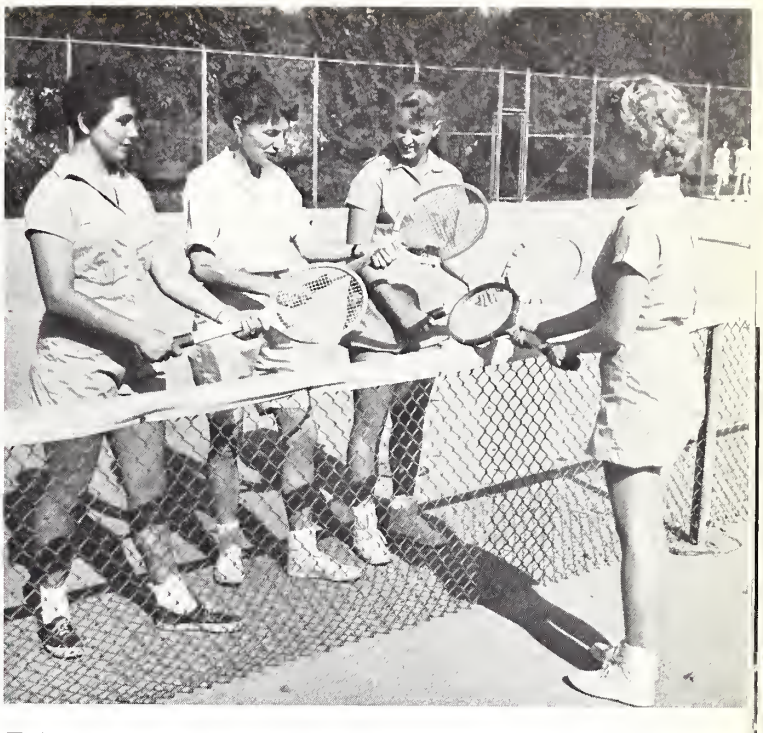
Junior boys have swimming, wrestling, and basketball for sports, plus advanced first aid training, and work out on trampoline and other apparatus. Weightlifting is on their list of gym activities too.
Senior boys are a privileged group. They not only have football, archery, golf, weightlifting, and basketball, but for the first time this year, bowling and roller skating. Boys bowl one day a week at Art's Lanes, making the trip by bus.

EXERCISES developed coordination as well as strength.

Girls acquired skills in P. E.

SOCCER was a favorite among the outdoor team sports.

Girls Physical Education classes are scattered all over Thornton. Some groups meet in the girls gym, second floor; others are in the fieldhouse, the girls pool, and the stage of the big gym. Whenever weather permits, girls go out-of-doors. Curriculum plans are based on giving the most girls the best chance to develop the greatest skills. Freshmen have sports, hygiene, dancing, swimming. Sophomores and juniors have a choice of swimming, sports, and rhythms. Seniors get the most variety—tennis, golf, archery, ping pong, badminton, volleyball, shuffleboard, and first aid. There is a modified course for girls unable to participate in vigorous activity. GAA supplements all activities.



TENNIS—Judy Geiser, Marsha Swanson, Kathryn Rogers watch as Mrs. Norton explains how to grip the racquet.

SWIMMING—Formations required coordination and timing.

MODIFIED GYM—Yvonne Crayton, Bonnie Norton, Julie Goldman, Donelle Diggle, Charlie Mae Phillips liked croquet games.

HEARING TESTS—Miss Lieb sets up her audiometer in a Social Studies conference room to test a frosh group.

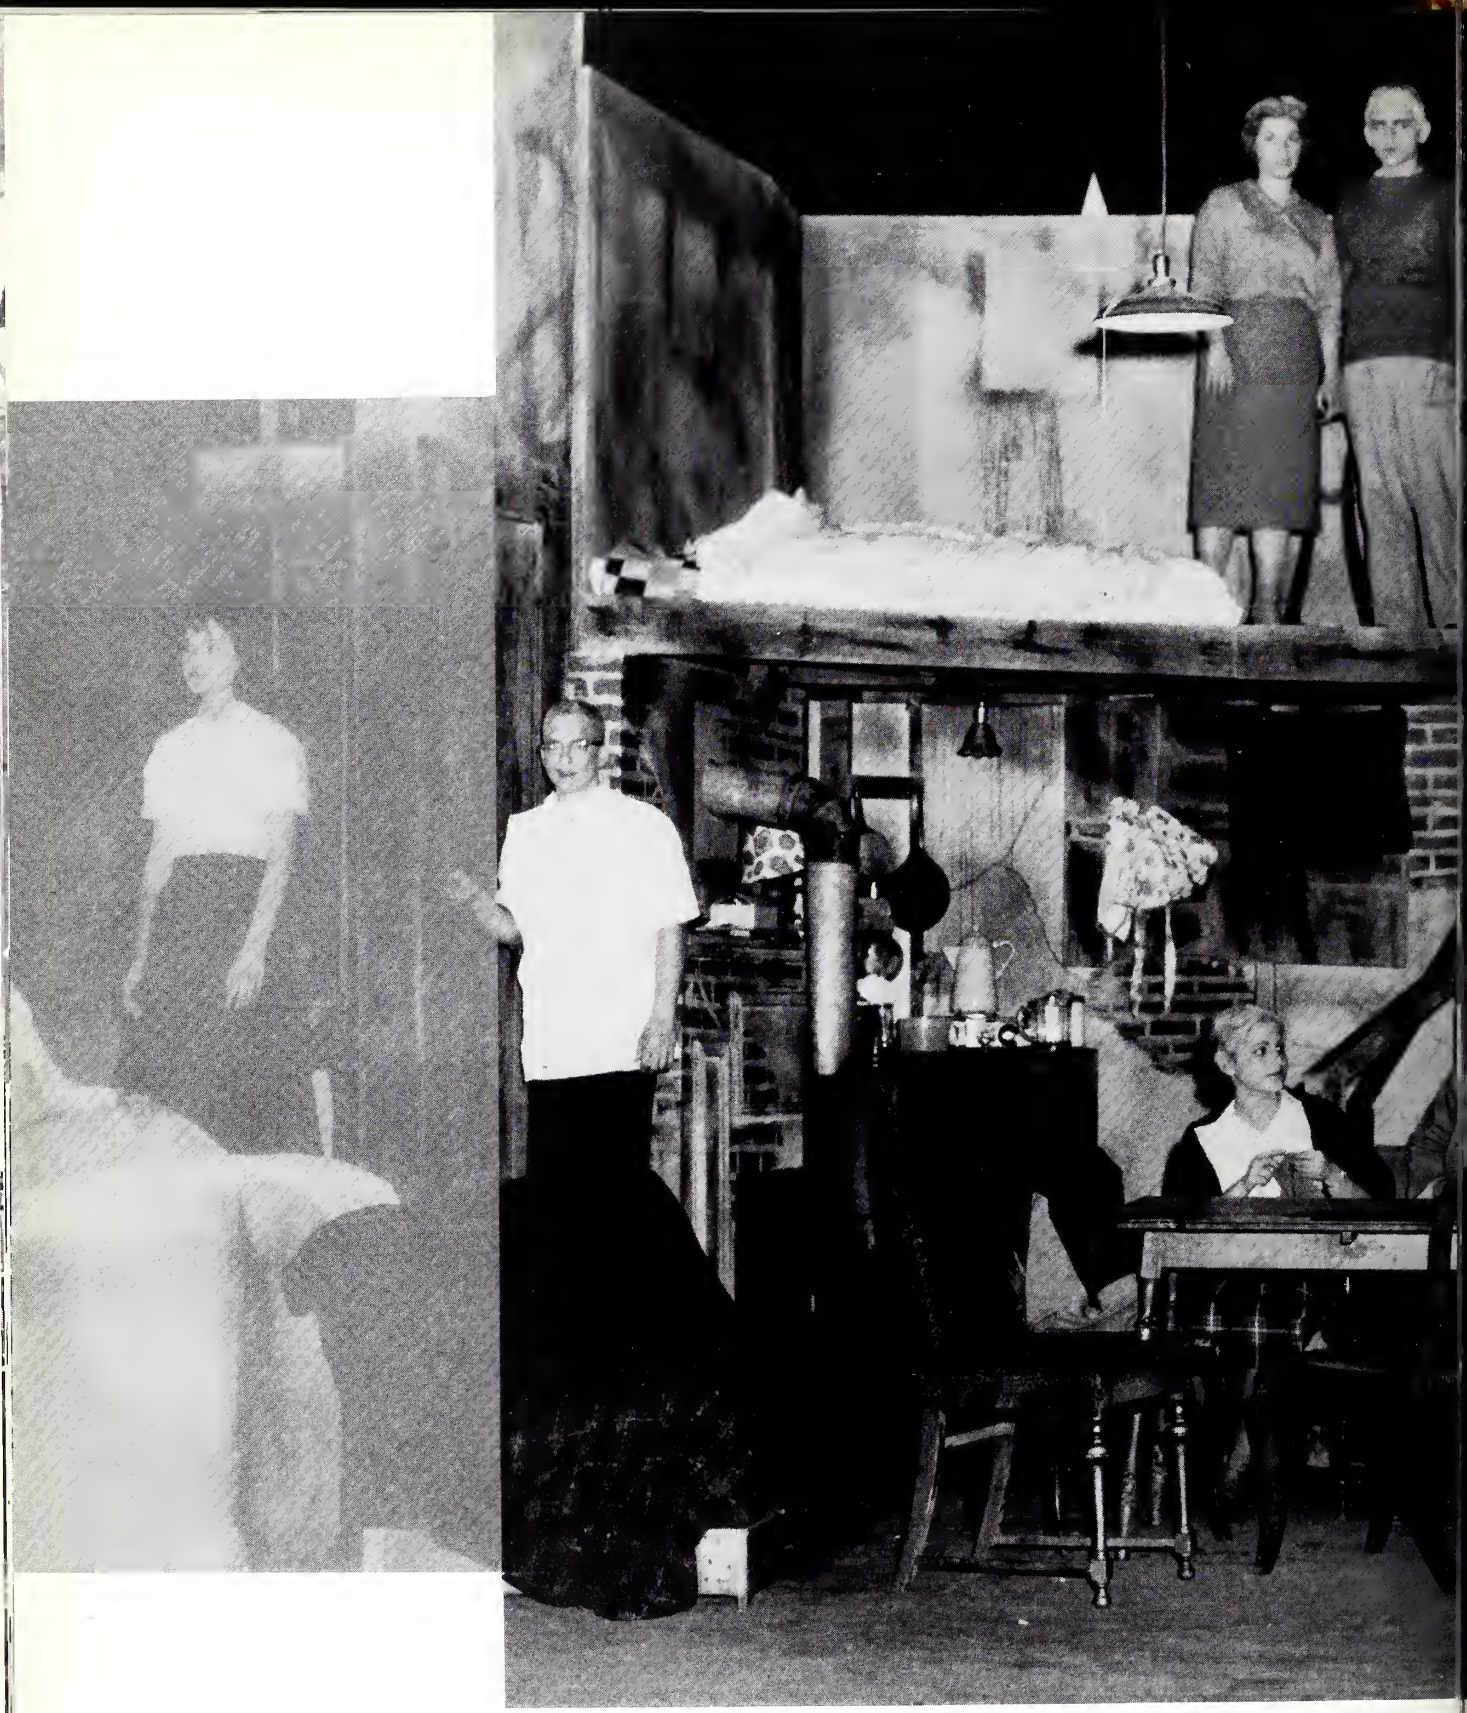
NURSES' OFFICE—Mrs. Sherman checks Margie Dreesen's temperature as she sits in the shiny new office.

Health Services functioned through nurses, P. E.

Thornton had three nurses on duty all the time, plus students to keep records and act as receptionists. Nurses contributed to general health education by helping doctors give physical examinations to the freshmen in the fall. They administered hearing tests to all freshmen and re-tests to those who needed it. They kept constant check on every student's record, so that if illness or symptoms kept recurring, the student would be referred to his doctor. They taught home-nursing to homemaking groups and cooperated with the Physical Education department on first aid courses. In the remodeling process, their offices were moved to the first floor near the Lincoln statue, where KIP had been.

BANDAGES—Mary Kay Phalen and Barbara Osika practice on the victim, Jo Ann Sholar. Judy Ryktarczyk demonstrates, on Judy Hoffman, how to treat a broken arm.

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION—Ronald Butts gets help from Mr. Czech on how to stimulate breathing in the patient, Dick Cooley. Tom Silzer bandages Warren Meier.



The entire cast of "The Diary of Anne Frank" assembles for final curtain call.

ACTIVITIES

Student energies are seldom satisfied with studies alone—there always seems to be an exuberance that works itself out through extra-curricular activities.

CROWNING CEREMONY—Roberta Fritz places the robe on the queen, Ruth Bischof, as Marilyn Koneck and Ellen Massoth wait for their part, with crown and scepter.

Frosh Stand-Up is first of season

First big party of the year that all freshman girls at Thornton look forward to is the Freshman Stand-up. This year's event took place on Thursday, September 29.

Traditional opening ceremony is the hand-shake line. It is short at the beginning, with only Miss Wilson, dean of girls, and the officers of the club standing at the head of the line. After each girl shakes hands, she joins the line, which soon extends completely around the gym.

"Operation Petticoat" was this year's theme. The party got everyone off to a friendly feeling about Thornton.

CAN-CAN STUNT by the freshmen made a big hit.

OPERATION PETTICOAT was definitely a success.

Highlight of the program is always the crowning of the Stand-Up queen.

Speeches are made by girls representing their classes and the queen is presented with her crown, her cape, her scepter, and her royal pillow as symbols of authority.

One of the most enjoyable features of the party is presentation of hilarious and zany stunts by freshman, sophomore, and junior classes. Topping off the show is the senior parade of fashions. Girls model clothes that the well-dressed Thorntonite would wear at school, for sports, and at parties.

Biggest moment for the freshman girls came when they were called to gather around their queen for her welcome.

The party ended with serving of lemonade and donuts to girls and faculty guests.

STAND-UP CHAIRMEN had a good time and lots of work planning the party. They liked the big crowd.

Homecoming weekend began with pep

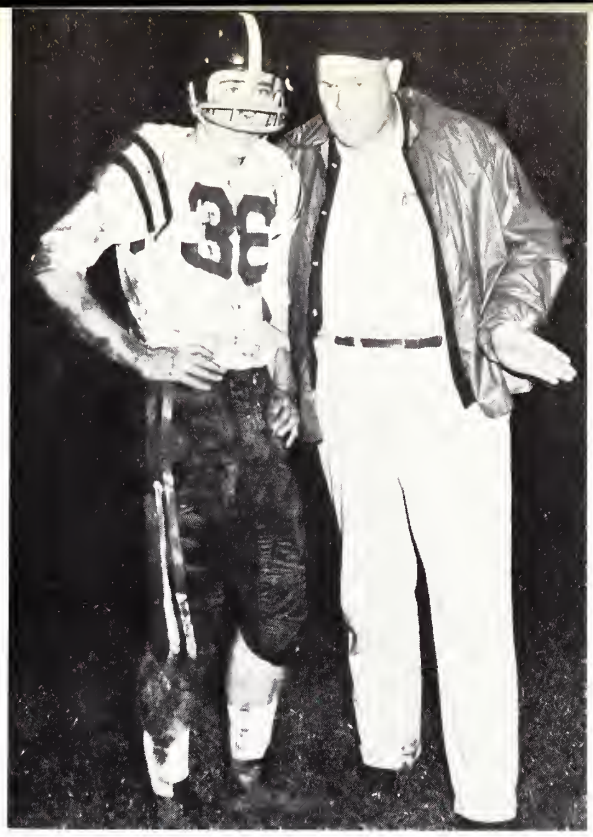
session and parade

Oh, that Homecoming weekend! It all began on Thursday, October 13, with an all-school pep assembly followed by the parade.

Students swarmed the sidewalks and streets to watch the floats, cars, and walking delegations. "Aqua Magic" was the theme. Even cloudy skies and a chilly wind didn't spoil the fun. Because entries were all so good, judges had a hard time deciding. Grand prize went to Girls Athletic Association.

That evening students piled into football bleachers to see Thornton's Wildcats battle the Argonauts to a 6-6 tie. Future Teachers club sold white balloons to be released at the kick-off of the varsity game.



COACH HUDDLESTUN gives instructions to Bob Caress before sending him back.

GIRLS CLUB members wave gaily from their float in the parade—Pat Flood, Jo Ann Bargiel, Edna Funtall, Marilyn Romp, Pam Mott.

CAMERA CLUB studio featured Tom Renner, Roger Weseloh, Gary Halley snapping John Markevich and Carole Crosby as the club did a big business.

Homecoming dance was weekend climax

HOMECOMING ROYALTY, 1960, were Sharyn Boudreau, the queen, and Bob Caress, the king.

THE WINNAH!—Judy Hayes gets first place plaque for G.A.A. from MC's Fred Aprati, Sandy Anders.

Homecoming dance, scheduled for Saturday night, came as the climax of Homecoming Weekend. Decorations in keeping with the theme of "Aqua Magic" included King Neptune, a couple of very fierce-looking sharks, and, of course, a whale.

When it came time to announce the king and queen, excitement was running high. The court entered the stage through the mouth of the whale and took their places on the dais.

Members of the court had been announced at the Friday pep session. From them, a vote of the whole student body determined their royal highnesses. When Sharyn Boudreau and Bob Caress were announced as winners, they received their crowns from last year's king and queen, Bob Burdett and Terrie Kopac. Kathy Bartosh did the traditional coronation dance.

HOMECOMING COURT was a terrific honor—John Fyler, Nancy Dunlap, Claude Kracik, Sandy Anders; Bob Caress, the king; Sharyn Boudreau, the queen; Mary Lou Falica, Tony Quinzi, Merry Ring, Steve Wentz.

"Diary of Anne Frank" brought problems

LIVING IN HIDING—Peter Van Daan, Mrs. Van Daan, Mr. Van Daan, Mrs. Frank, Mr. Frank, Margot Frank, Mr. Dussel, Anne Frank. Their home was an old warehouse, dark and dingy.

in stage setting

"The Diary of Anne Frank," a play based upon the book Anne Frank: Diary of a Young Girl, was presented by the Girls Club in November.

Mrs. Roberta Rivere was director. The story was that of two Jewish families forced to go into hiding during World War II because the Nazis were killing Jewish people or putting them in concentration camps.

The play, presented November 18 and 19, drew a full house each night. Tryouts in September determined the cast of eleven characters. Approximately sixty-five students tried for parts.

LIVING QUARTERS were cramped—Arlene Shapiro, Larry Lincoln, Carol Romba, Bob Turek had to get along with few comforts.

NERVES could be edgy—Margot, Anne, Mr. Dussel.

Everybody had fun

All those students who attended K.I.P.-sponsored gym jams, November 12 and April 8, really had a blast. The trampoline proved to be the main attraction.

Besides that, there was basketball, ping pong, swimming, and dancing. Volleyball players were really wild. Tall boys were the main obstruction of the game. If anyone could manage to get his little finger on the ball, he was really lucky.

Swimming was a popular sport again, too. As usual there were more onlookers than there were swimmers, but everyone enjoyed watching the swimmers.

Anyone for a fast game of smash? Gym jams were good for letting off steam.

SMASH—Bill McRoberts, Bob Labuda in a red hot game got a work-out.

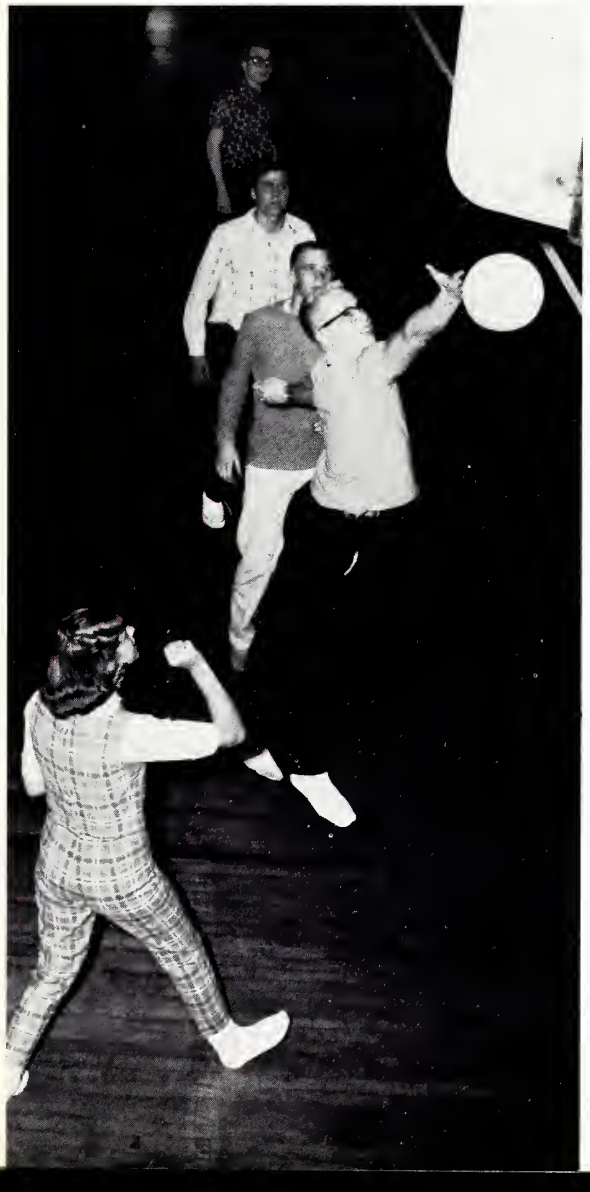
TRAMPOLINE was most popular of all the sports.

Gym Jams always brought big crowds

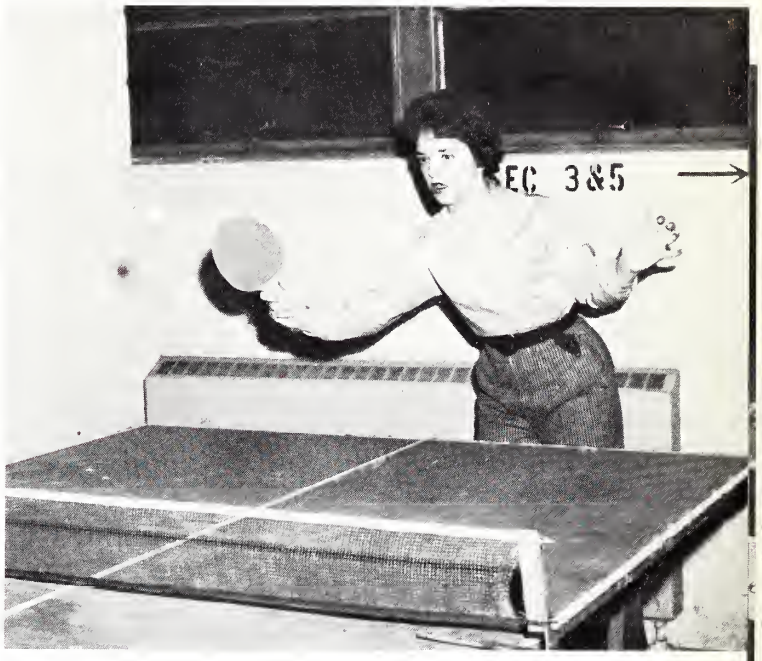
For non-active students there were a number of less strenuous games offered, including putting greens for all the expert golfers. Chess required active minds in planning moves and executing strategy. If you didn't want to play, you could kibitz.

For more activity there were badminton and smash. Punching bags were available and a special type of bowling with plastic pins and light balls. Shuffleboard courts were marked out on the mezzanine.

VOLLEYBALL could absorb many players, like Don Hinrichs batting the ball as John Fyler, Steve Withey, Bob Piel and Diane Hodge waited their chance.



PING-PONG—Janet Rossate makes a quick serve.



CHESS—Joann Gorski kibitzes on Marion Macdonald and Britt Kaur as they figure out the next move.

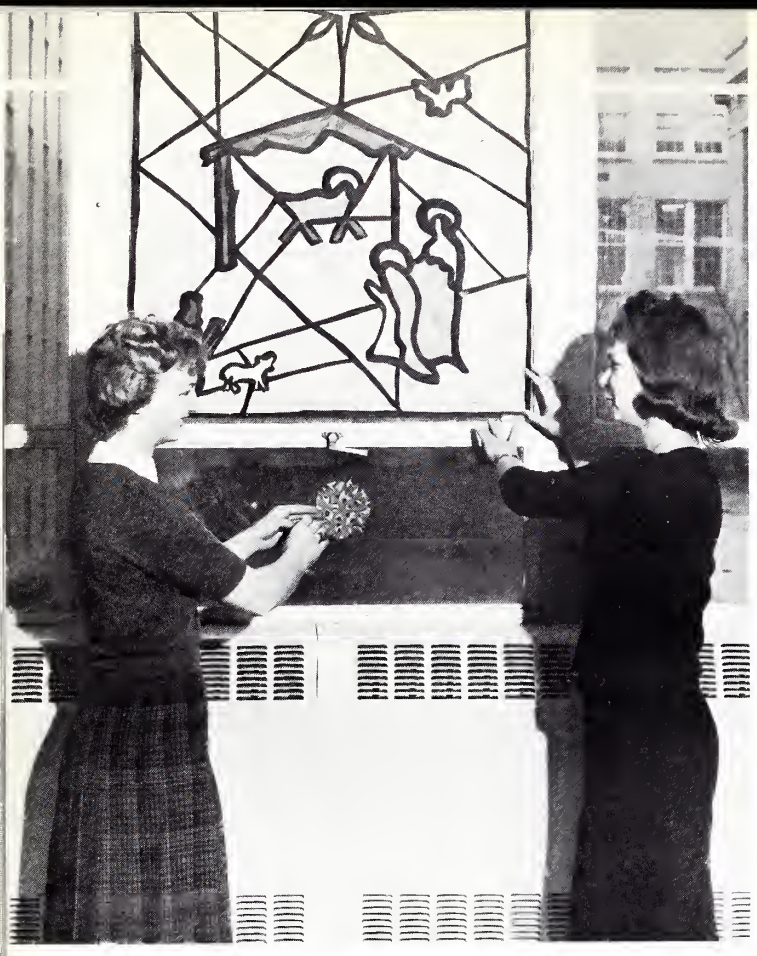
Thornton's halls

During the Christmas season Thornton's Art department displayed their work by adorning hallways with lanterns, mobiles, and all sorts of ingenious ornaments.

Building and Grounds department contributed a tree with bright red lights on top of the main west entrance. Art students decorated a tree and set it up outdoors in the first courtyard between the old building and the new, in compliance with new fire regulations.

For the Christmas concert in the auditorium, Madrigal Singers wore their new attire —tuxedos and bright red dresses.

The music program presented on the last day of school before the holidays gave the true spirit of Christmas to everyone.



CHRISTMAS window decorations kept June Wagner and Arlene Massick busy overseeing the job.

MADRIGAL SINGERS initiated their new outfits, a departure from the Old English costumes.

had a festive look at Christmas

HALL DECORATIONS took some doing—Ron Vallow, Linda Poe worked like eager beavers to be on time with their project.

CHRISTMAS TAGS were a Girls Club project—Phyllis Posey, Dorothy Miller, Carol Halsall.

Christmas is a time of year when people are kind to the unfortunate ones. Thornton's Junior Red Cross Council saw to it that every homeroom in school had a chance to help the needy. Each homeroom representative of JRC received a stocking to be filled with candy and toys. Later, these were sent to children who had no one to buy them presents.

Twenty members of the Girls Club visited the Home for Incurables in Chicago, December 20, and took packages of home-made cookies, wrapped like snowmen.

Besides making and selling Christmas tags, Girls Club visited Oak Forest infirmary.

Turnabout weekend gave the girls an opportunity to ask their favorite fellows to the Girls Club dance. The theme was "A Fellow Needs a Girl." General chairmen were Joan Pavelin and Darlene Mulder.

Upon arriving at the gymnasium, girls and their dates were welcomed by the dance chairmen and the guests of honor. Boutonnieres were provided for the boys. Three hundred fifty couples danced to the dreamy music of Dick Carleton and his orchestra.

Sandra Toigo, Shirley Sailors, and Dorothy Borys, decorations chairmen, created a soda shop and a garden with a wishing well. Hanging from the ceiling over the center of the dance floor was a white, fleecy cloud.

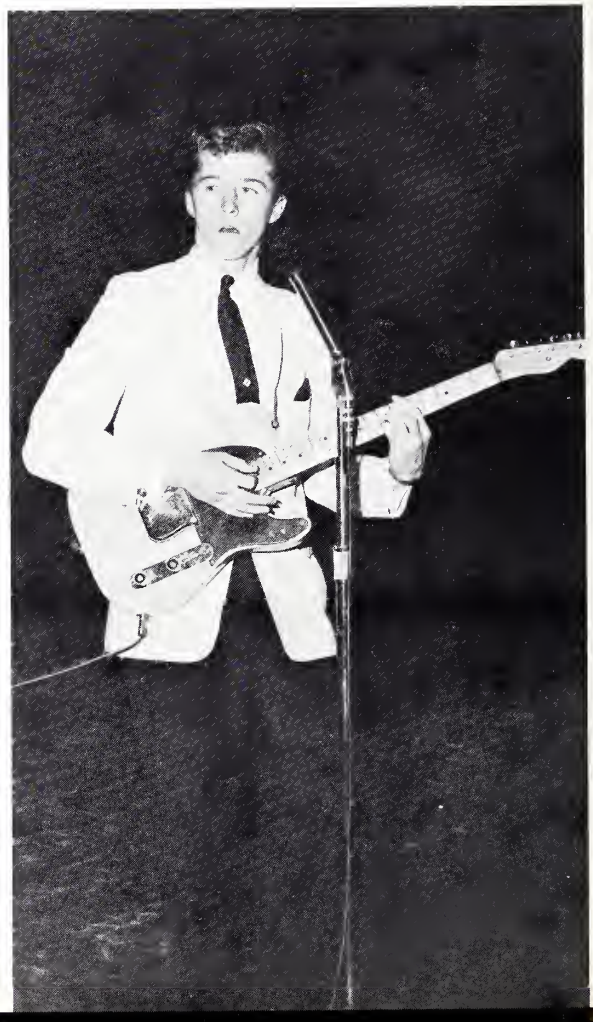
Turnabout weekend was declared a huge success by all taking part.

SINGERS—Sharon Hampton, Charmaine Carlson, Linda Sorenson entertain in the stage show.

Girls believe "A fellow needs a girl"

COATROOM—not so glamorous but very important. Holly Haley, Barbara Taylor, Irene Pala did rush job.

ENTERTAINER—Chuck Edelhofer and his electric guitar showed the girls they needed the fellows, too.



SWEET SHOP—Tom Renner, Judy DeWitt have their picture taken by Camera Club photographers.

HOSTESSES and their dates—Diane Banovich pins a carnation on Gil Schultz. Doug Diggle and Barbara Helsly see that it is done properly.

HYPNOSIS demonstration was tried on a group of dads and sons recruited from the audience.

PRESIDENT Steve Wentz addressed the boys and their mothers at the Mother-Son dinner party.

CAFETERIA was well-filled with boys and their moms.

Boys Club entertained dads and mothers

GOOD SUBJECTS for hypnosis—Chuck Edelhofer, Don Erickson (leaning), Mr. Baron.

TOUR of the shops proved very interesting to boys and their dads at the stag party.

Boys Club had its annual Father-Son stag on Saturday evening, February 4. Everyone enjoyed the fun and laughter.

Fun began at 7 o'clock when the boys, accompanied by their dads, toured the new language lab and vocational-technical building. After the tour, came the program in the auditorium, with speeches by Steve Wentz, president, and Mr. DeGraff, club sponsor and dean of boys. Climax of the evening was the demonstration by Mr. Edward L. Baron, well-known hypnotist.

Five weeks later, March 11, Boys Club entertained again. This time mothers were invited for dinner and to hear a "serious humorist," Mr. Edward McFaul. Laughs were plentiful.

G.A.A. banquet, "Sporty Spires," was held in the cafeteria, February 1. Eighty-nine girls watched the giving of awards and the crowning of the posture queen. Mrs. Kelso spoke about careers and summer jobs in physical education.

Awards were given to girls who had done outstanding work in G.A.A. Special awards for participation in all nine sports seasons plus numerals and small T's were distributed.

Finalists in the posture contest conducted in all gym classes sat at the head table. They were introduced and the queen announced—Merry Ring. P.E. teachers, Miss Andrews, Miss Begnoche, Miss Higgins, and Mrs. Norton, were the judges. Pat Altier, last year's queen, made the award.

WAITERS Bob Jacobson, Bob Turek, Tom Silzer, Joe Whitney are ready to serve dessert.

CHAIRMEN—Barbara Helsly, Barbara Carlson, Karen Johnson looked after details.

ROARING TWENTIES—Gary Lundmark, Sandy Anders.

TOGETHER—Charmaine Carlson, Bob Dahl.

Kids make a hit at annual variety show

FACULTY BABIES—Miss Seebach, Mr. Norene, Miss Szymanski, Mr. Renfrow, Mr. Arthur Harms.

"Kids", theme of the 1961 eighth annual Variety Review, was presented to a full house on March 25 in the Thornton gym.

The acts, performed by alumni, faculty, and students, were indeed varied. Song and dance numbers, besides several choral groups and combos, were the musical part of the program.

The entire production was directed by Glenn Schuermann. Technical director was Norman Kirschbaum; musical director was Robert Zechel. Steve Wentz and Bill Dorner were the student directors.

Chairmen were Russ Blais, Jim Borris, Pearl DeVries, Frank Gengler, Ann Graves, Leslie Johnson, Larry Lincoln, Jay Maher, Gary Moore, Ed Sylvestrak, and Betty Wilson.

KIP, Thornton's student council, represents the whole student body. Its name comes from the school motto, "Knowledge Is Power."

Among its projects this year was playing host to the South Suburban Student Council Workshop, September 29, and Forum Workshop, October 29.

Members compiled information and published a new student handbook. Two gym jams, spring and fall, gave students use of gym facilities.

KIP found a new home this year. It moved to the second floor in the new building. A wall mosaic for the new office, picturing a Thornton boy and girl, was an Art department gift.

KIP sponsored Homecoming weekend, October 12 to 14. On the schedule were a pep session in the gym and parade with floats, to whip up school spirit for Friday's game. Then there was a dress-up dance, Saturday, with alumni Thornton's Girls Club, founded by Miss Frances Gordon in 1916, was the first club of its kind in Illinois. At first it was purely social; then it began to promote enterprises for the betterment of Thornton girls.

Girls Club has put forth every effort to give members a chance to do the kind of work they like and can do well. Main activity of the club is welfare, but money-making projects are a necessary side line in financing it. The club sponsors social events like the Freshman Stand-up and the Girls Club dance.

All officers, except freshmen, are elected for the school year in May of the previous year. Board and six major officers are the governing body of the club. Board consists of three freshmen, four sophomores, five juniors, and six seniors. It meets after school every first and third Thursday of the month to discuss problems and make policy decisions for the club.

Girls Club, sponsored by Miss Helene Wilson and a committee of faculty members, is always in action. Room 107 is never empty. Committees and officers meet there. Group meetings acquaint underclasses with Thornton traditions and ideals.

Welfare activities include Oak Forest patients, CARE, Kentucky Schools, Home for Incurables, and Save-the-children Clothing Federation. This year the club sponsored a German exchange student and a Korean orphan.

Girls Club has organized a system of activity points to encourage freshmen and sophomores to enter extracurricular activities and to prove their interest in Girls Club. When someone earns forty points and meets the five requirements, she receives a "T" pin. Freshmen get white pins and sophomores, purple pins. Activity point commissioners help girls sign up the points and keep everyone's record in order.

Girls Club sponsors many activities during the school year: Freshman Stand-up, group meetings, Christmas tags, dance, May Queen, Suburban Girls Conference, to name a few.

Mother-Daughter banquet, with its May Queen Court, is the big event each spring. Prior to the banquet date, junior girls who exhibit the qualities of a true friend are nominated by classmates to be on the court. From this group, all girls in school vote on the Queen and Maid of Honor. The two are announced at an auditorium ceremony after the dinner.

Scholarship teas, one each semester, were on October 18 and March 2 to honor girls with high scholastic records. Honor guests had all earned one or more semesters of straight A in their academic courses.

Loyalty Day is an annual tribute to Miss Gordon, founder of the club. At this time new members take their pledge and other members renew theirs. A candlelighting ceremony follows an inspirational talk. Representatives of each class are chosen by the major officers and the Loyalty Day chairmen.

Purple X Committee provided fourteen open houses after football and basketball games and also sponsored buses to out-of-town games.

At the annual banquet in May, new members were initiated and officers installed. The eighty-five members met at least once a month. Purple X again provided an assembly which featured the Purdue Men's Glee Club.

Purple X trains its members in leadership.

Boys Club enjoyed a building year, one of much activity aimed at renewing club loyalty. Results were satisfactory, for members showed much enthusiasm for Boys Club affairs.

Purpose of the club is to promote all enterprises contributing to the welfare of the school and to give every member a more profitable, pleasure-filled school life.

Members, under the direction of the dean of boys, Mr. Mel DeGraff, sponsored several projects, among them the wheelchair basketball game, a membership drive, Father-Son stag, the Mother-Son banquet, and an honors assembly.

Membership in Boys Club is open to all boys.

Yearbook publication and

A yearbook staff of nine, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Washburn, published the 1961 Thorntonite. The staff met daily as a class and on many afternoons after school.

By having the book printed offset (less expensive than letterpress) and by selling individual pictures donated by the photographer, the staff raised enough to finance the book without selling advertising.

Karen Carraro, Dawn Baran, and Karen Brunke prepared pictures for sale. Barbara Jarecki and Linda Lilley were in charge of sales. Judy Ryktarczyk and Valerie Ludewig organized and typed the senior index; Nancy Fraser did the general index. Diane Tromp was in charge of subscription lists. Don Erickson of the newspaper staff wrote copy in the sports section.

The book had another first this year — four full-color pictures. Distribution day came at the end of the school year, in late May.

Newspaper reporting keep staffs busy

The zenith of all high school newspapers, according to its staff, is the weekly Thorntonite, published in thirty editions. Most numbers had four pages, with occasionally six pages.

Mr. Edward Olson, adviser, said that this staff of fifteen journalism students and four Camera Club members, was the smallest in years. Students met daily as a class, but many worked after school to meet deadlines and to make the last-minute changes often necessary.

Newspaper staff worked hard to earn money to finance the paper. They ran the popcorn concession at home basketball games and sold want ads for the first time this year.

Camera Club photographers took all pictures and also processed their film. They made it possible for the Thorntonite to publish a full picture page after Homecoming.

Carbon copies of all news and feature stories went to the newly organized News Bureau for distribution to local papers.

In the annual judging by National Scholastic Press Association, the Thorntonite won a first class rating for schools of 2000 or over.

Hall Guard Organization is one of the bigger Boys Club projects. It has three sections – Hall Guards, Bus Guards, and Campus Patrol. Hall Guard officers have jurisdiction over all three. Members have as their duty the policing of school corridors, campus, and school buses.

It is the job of Hall Guards to check students to see that they all have passes and are not loitering in the corridors during classes. Since lockers must be locked to be of value, Hall Guards make a check each period.

Campus Patrol members check parking lots and campus for smokers and loafers. They help the maintenance department on campus clean-up.

Bus Guards have one of the most important of jobs – riding school buses to maintain order.

Since bus drivers cannot concentrate on driving and still maintain order among their passengers, it becomes the duty of the Bus Guards to see that students behave. Privilege of riding is denied those who do not conform to the rules.

Hall Guard captains are responsible for seeing that guards are at their posts, that substitutes are supplied as needed, and that orders are being carried out promptly.

Visitors to Thornton have commented favorably upon the courtesy and helpfulness of the boys on corridor duty.

Captains in all three divisions meet regularly with the Hall Guard officers to report on conditions. In turn, they relay to the guards the policies agreed upon and the suggestions that have been made for improvement.

SPANISH COUNCIL. Elaine Kavelaras, Sherry Kosek, Barbara Taylor, Karen Mooth, Wayne Turner, Steve Erhard.

Thornton's four language councils are groups of classroom representatives. Instead of a few students belonging to after-school clubs, all can now be in monthly programs planned by their councils. Many programs are centered about national holidays of the countries studied.

French Council organized decorating of bulletin boards and a Christmas tree. Top-ranking students enter the National French Contest. In first-year classes there were scrapbooks to be put into competition. Second-year students made maps of France; third-year had speaking contests.

German Council sponsored Christmas carol singing. Several programs featured travelogues by Miss Hills and Mrs. Lapertosa, who had visited Germany last summer. Poster competition sponsored by the council and a scholarship contest of the National German Teachers Association brought honors.

Spanish Council produced fewer programs but students enjoyed Spanish Christmas customs, like the breaking of the pinata.

Latin Council contributed its bit in commemorating the founding of Rome. There were posters, tags, and window displays. The more capable students won several honors and prizes.

LIBERETS OFFICERS. Front: Phyllis Landry, secretary; Carol King, vice-president. Rear: Linda Craft, president; Judy Matthies, treasurer.

Thornton has a new club — a library club known as Liberets, with a membership of thirty-five. Main reasons for organizing were to develop librarianship, to encourage avid readers, to promote interest in library vocations, and to make new friends.

The club entered a float in the Homecoming parade. Many attended the South Suburban conference of student aides at Bloom and went to a downtown luncheon of librarians and to a state meeting in Peoria. Most of them were Library Assistants, too, checking attendance, preparing bulletin board displays, and carrying on library publicity. Assistants worked in all three libraries: Social Studies Library for history and other SS classes; Rental Library for English classes; and the general library.

INDUSTRIAL ED. ASSISTANTS. Front: Shirley Zablocki, Sharyn Boudreau. Rear: Mr. Roberts, Carole Boitnott.

If you walked into the Industrial Education building any day of the week, you would see a clerical assistant typing various kinds of letters and forms and taking care of filing innumerable pieces of correspondence, of applications, and of reference material.

Besides these activities, Industrial Education Secretaries take dictation, answer correspondence, and greet visitors to the department. When instructors are very busy, secretaries often go into classrooms to sort papers.

Three girls worked one period per day getting a lot of practical secretarial experience, helpful not only in their present job but in the business world as well.

Since they were the only girls in the Industrial Education department, they received attention not only from the faculty for whom they worked, but from the shop students, too.

Student assistants help faculty

Nurses' Aides are volunteers who spend one period a day helping the school nurses. They perform many of the routine tasks, especially of record-keeping. There were nine this year.

When a student enters or leaves the dispensary, the aide pulls his file from the records and notes the time on the "log sheet."

Aides also help the nurses by assisting with hearing and sight tests, by running errands, and by taking on any other jobs assigned. They have helped in a variety of emergencies, including a sprained finger and a concussion.

Besides aiding the nurses, these girls are helping themselves, for many will enter nursing careers. As receptionists they learn to understand people, a part of any nurse's training.

This year the office was moved from Room 221 to the first floor, a more convenient location. There was larger and newer equipment.

NURSES' AIDES. Front: Joyce Goebel, Minnie Thomas. Rear: Eileen O'Brien, Judy Hutter, Twyla Elliott, Mary Ross, Jane McGeath.

One of the busiest places in Thornton is the Bookstore. Here Thornton students may purchase gym equipment, books, rental tickets, notebooks, pencils, and other supplies, in the building.

Miss Margaret Oppelt, a former Thorntonite and bookstore clerk, is now full-time manager of the student assistants. Bookstore is under the supervision of the school business manager. Staff members are selected on personality and grades and usually serve two or three years.

Class Counselors' Assistants are a group of responsible students working under the general office staff. Honesty, reliability, and maturity of judgment are needed. They act as receptionists and help class counselors with clerical work. Tardy students needing passes, notes for distribution to faculty, and phone calls to homes of absent students are among their duties.

SOCIAL STUDIES. Karen Taylor, Joanne Swiderski, Sandie Marchino assist S.S. faculty.

many departments

English Rental Library was managed by four girls from junior college and five from high school. Each spent one period a day in the library. They checked books as they were borrowed and replaced them on the shelves as they were returned. They kept a file on all books both in the library and out on loan.

From English Rental come all the textbooks and all the sets of supplementary reading books used in English classes. Students pay rental fees to the bookstore and then present receipts to English teachers. Book sets are signed out to English faculty and loaned to students for a long or short time, depending on the book.

Until this year, the rental library was managed by the English department. Now it is under main library supervision. A committee of English teachers decides which books — novels, biographies, other fiction and non-fiction, and texts — will be chosen for classes and which will be retired except for special uses.

Rental library moved from Room 205 to a more convenient location near the main stacks. Six hundred to a thousand books circulate monthly. Text sets are on semester or whole-year rental.

Social Studies office kept three student assistants busy, working a period a day. They typed, sorted mail, answered the phone, ran routine errands, and acted as receptionists.

Among the routine tasks came an unusual one—helping a faculty member compile material for a book. The assistant set up the pages and typed all of the rough drafts of the manuscript.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION. President Jim Garofalo addresses a meeting as Marv Keeling, treasurer, and Ronald Wilson, v.-pres., stand by. Sandie Zoller, sec'y., absent.

Distributive Education Club is a new one at TTHS. Members are business students who want sales experience. They attend school part time and work in retail businesses the rest of the day. Forty-one students, under Mr. Donald Williams' supervision, are in the group. As a money-making scheme they did car washing.

Key Club is a service organization sponsored by Kiwanis International. One of their projects was to finance a color page for the Thorntonite newspaper. To raise money, the club had a candy sale. Also with its earnings, the club helped pay expenses for several buses to away games, co-sponsoring them with Purple X.

Key Club had a Bermuda Hop as their social event and gained faculty admiration by having a Teacher Appreciation Day. In the Homecoming parade, Key Club float took first place. Members helped the parent Kiwanis Club on their Pancake and Peanut days. Meeting time was 1:00 to 1:30 on Wednesdays. Mr. Arthur Harms and Mr. Ray Sherman were the faculty sponsors.

Chemistry Club, striving to instill special knowledge of chemistry into its eighteen members, meets bi-monthly. The club has the opportunity to perform experiments, with Mr. Fred Ring, club sponsor, on hand to help in case a problem arises. Members assisted in a science assembly program, visited chemical plants, and participated in a science fair. Professional chemists spoke at club meetings to encourage them to continue their scientific education. Speakers presented job possibilities and discussed aspects, favorable and unfavorable, of careers in chemistry, their own field.

Coin collecting has had a shot in the arm since Thornton's Coin Club was organized. Sponsored by Mr. Bowen, it has twelve members who buy, trade, and sell coins, tokens, and paper money. Displaying their collections is the main project of the club. They study and discuss their finds until they become quite expert.

"Quiet, backstage!" is a familiar command just before the curtain goes up. Busy members of Footlighters are gathering costumes and props, setting up scenery, and applying make-up to the cast on performance nights.

Footlighters met twice a month, after school, in the auditorium. Purpose of the organization is to interest students in all aspects of the theater and to provide opportunity for them to have some practical experience.

Footlighters worked on all-school plays, the contest play, and the variety show. Those who put in at least a hundred hours of work were initiated into Thespian Society.

For "The Diary of Anne Frank," this year's Girls Club play, thirteen chairmen were chosen. With two general chairmen they headed program, publicity, ticket sales, stage, lighting, sound, make-up, costume, and property committees.

Youth for Christ Club, sponsored by Miss Marian Thomas, encourages students to make Christianity a vital part of daily living and provides opportunity for fellowship with all denominations. The club also provides leadership opportunities and training.

By mid-year the organization had completed several projects: an attendance contest with Thornridge, support of Chicagoland YFC rallies, and a candy sale. They sang at Oak Forest hospital and drew up a new constitution.

Projectionist Society, totaling fifty, is directed by Mr. Blake Reed. Members work in the audio-visual center, which provides A-V equipment for use in classroom instruction. To date they have trained 150 classroom projectionists so that every class may have expert operators, who know what to do when movie time comes.

The center strives for high level service at all times and functions on a service basis only.

TTHS chapter of Future Homemakers of America has a membership of twenty and is sponsored by all the homemaking teachers. To help students improve personal, family, and community living, now and in the future, is the aim of the club. Meetings were twice a month.

FHA made Christmas favors for a rest home, took a trip to the Museum of Science and Industry, and sold school emblem stationery. They gave a tea for their mothers, and made a field trip to Chicago to see a meat demonstration.

Future Teachers of America is an organization of forty-five Thorntonites interested in being teachers. They met every other Wednesday. Programs featured speakers already in the field. There were trips to Illinois State Normal, Northern Illinois, Southern Illinois, and Northwestern University.

FTA members sold balloons to spectators at home football games. In the fall they were the guests at a Parent-Teacher Association tea.

especially with future occupations

Diversified Occupations program provides on-the-job training for junior and senior boys and girls. While they are acquiring skills for the future, they earn full credit toward graduation and extra spending money for the present.

A minimum of fifteen hours is spent on the job each week and equal time is devoted to their school work. Two thousand hours of training are the only requirements for completion.

Mr. William Fowler of the Industrial Education department is director. He contacts business and industrial managers for D.O.

Junior Red Cross, sponsored by Miss Kratochvil, has twenty-two council members meeting every day during homeroom. In October, they made a field trip to a veterans hospital. In December, they distributed Christmas stockings to homerooms to be filled for needy children. Junior Red Cross helps on the national level, with contributions to disaster victims and veterans, and on the school level with school supplies for students who can't afford them.

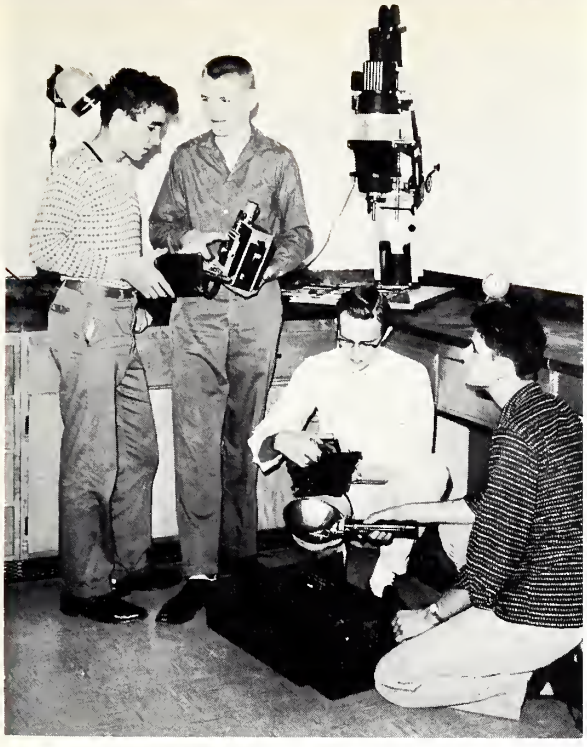
Perigon Club, Thornton's math club, has an approximate membership of fifty. Faculty advisers are Miss Brushfield, Miss Seebach, and Miss Jones. Main purpose is to further an interest in mathematics. Members seek to solve problems not contained in their textbooks.

Prior to a field trip in April to Sinclair Laboratories to see an electronic computer in action, members saw a movie, "Quicker than You Think," explaining how computers work.

Guest speakers at club meetings included several Thornton grads and seniors not in the club. Among them were Wayne Tellis, '60, who went to Germany last summer; Chris Bisjak, exchange student from Germany; John McConnell, '60, now, at the University of Chicago; and seniors William Christiaanse, Terry Downing, and John Fyler.

Perigon Club sponsored the National Mathematics Contest for Thornton math students and kept display cases filled with timely exhibits.



CAMERA CLUB. Roger Miller, secretary; Tom Renner, vice-president; Gary Halley, president; Claude Baker, treasurer.

General Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Bowen, specializes in field trips to places of scientific interest like Adler Planetarium, Museum of Science and Industry, Shedd Aquarium, and Argonne Laboratory of Atomic Research.

Biology Club, with a membership of twenty-five, is sponsored by Mr. Laird. Purpose is to create interest in biological science. Members experiment with different types of projects and thus develop initiative and scientific curiosity. They enjoy pleasant social relationships with persons who have the same interests and abilities. Research on sponges, algae, plants, and animals was planned for the year. They went on several field trips, among them to the Science Fair at Illinois Institute of Technology.

Services of Camera Club were in demand for news photos and for pictures of dance couples. Thirty members met in their new, well-equipped dark room near the chemistry labs. Mr. John Jenkins and Mr. William Tipton were sponsors. Club photographers took all news photos for the weekly Thorntonite and made portraits of couples at Homecoming and Girls Club dances.

Social Studies Club, sponsored by Mr. James Davis and Mr. James Caster, numbers about fifty. Big project of the fall was a mock election to interest students in the national one. The club had a presidential candidate debate presented by Mr. Henry Dietch, Democrat, and Mr. Arthur Gottschalk, Republican, themselves candidates for the Illinois senate. A question and answer period followed the debate.

Field trips of historic or civic interest were planned. They studied slum clearance in Chicago and the new Calumet harbor. They visited Illinois Historical Society exhibits and went to Springfield and New Salem.

Radio Club is attended by both Thornton and Thornridge students. Purpose of the club is to exchange technical information between members both licensed and unlicensed.

The club has about fifteen members. Their adviser is Mr. Willard Siville of the Industrial Arts department. In 1960 the club operated two stations under emergency conditions. Their station placed third in national competition.

Modern dance attracted others

Harvey Hoofers, Thornton's well-known dancing group, has been at Thornton for over ten years. They have entertained at variety shows, at Homecoming dances, Girls Club dances, and at home basketball games during half-time.

Each fall, on the basis of tryouts, new members are chosen by Mr. Norman Lahti, faculty sponsor, and by the other members of the group. Each girl must be both solo and group performer.

Orchesis, newest addition to G.A.A., is a modern dance club of fifty members, sponsored by Miss Laura Quinn. Purpose is to offer students knowledge and appreciation of dance.

Members of Orchesis began early on routines for the G.A.A. dance show in May. They met two times a week to work out and to study theory.

Thornton's Debate Club, re-organized and staffed with rookies, enjoyed a full schedule of activities during the school year.

Just about every weekend Thornton students participated in practice debates or inter-scholastic tournaments with other schools. A four-state area included Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan.

Doing research on the debate subject developing argumentative skills, and building up their poise before groups earned for members of the club points which will ultimately bring membership in the National Forensic League.

Topic for debate this year was "Resolved: That the United Nations should be significantly strengthened."

Sixteen students, mostly freshmen and sophomores, with a sprinkling of upperclassmen, made up the personnel list of the club.

Orchestra drew student musicians

Orchestra, with Miss Charlotte Chambers as director, has a membership of about thirty-five. The string section, of eight students, meets every day in Room 102, third period.

This is a building year for Orchestra because of small membership, inexperience, and schedule difficulties. Orchestra did not, consequently, perform in the Christmas Concert but did participate in the Christmas candy sale with the band and planned and built a float for the Homecoming parade.

Thorntoneers, a dance band which has been in existence for twelve years, has fifteen members sponsored by Mr. Lyle Hopkins, band director and head of the Music department. Rehearsals for the group are during regular band rehearsals and on Tuesday evenings in the high school band room. Music by the Thorntoneers has been a tradition at Purple X dances and will bring to Thornton students memories of these affairs as well as of other good times at school.

They performed at games, at the opening and half-time ceremonies. They played at Thornridge dedication, at Teachers Institute, and at the school Festival of Arts. Girls Glee Club is a musical organization with a combined membership of seventy-five. The size of this group has made it necessary to divide it in half and to meet at two different times a day. Miss Mary Thompson, director, is training girls in the language, technique, and theory of music and singing to prepare them for entry into more advanced groups.

Girls Glee Club is organized primarily for those students interested in singing, but with little or no experience or training in choral music. The clubs performed at the Christmas Concert and the Spring Festival. Girls wore black skirts, white blouses, and red flowers.

Senior Choir tops mixed groups

Girls Choir, with an approximate membership of twenty-five, is the most advanced all-girl choral group. They met in Room 109 daily during first period. Miss Thompson, director, trained them in the more difficult techniques. They were given information about key signatures and notation and about performers and composers of music. This knowledge they applied to the work done in class as well as to concert work.

Girls Choir performs for school events and for programs like the Christmas Concert and Spring Music Festival. A selected group of voices from the choir comprises a special girls ensemble called the Keydets.

Senior Choir is a musical organization of the senior class and has a membership of about fifty. It is made up of both girls and boys and usually sings four-part music. The choir performs at various school events during the year, including the Christmas Concert, Spring Music Festival, and the variety show.

Senior Choir rehearsed every day during period 3A, but because of schedule difficulties, some seniors had to meet with the junior choir during a later period. Mr. Walter Armbruster, director, has the job of training them for special performances and teaching difficult types of choral music, in daily half-hour periods.

Girls Choir has advanced singers

Madrigal Singers are selected from the mixed choirs and directed by Mr. Armbruster. Madrigal Singers meet every day during homeroom and occasionally in the evening. Although they perform all during the year, their busiest season is Christmas. This time they shed their traditional 18th Century English costumes and donned modern apparel – semi-formal red dresses for the girls and tuxedos for the boys. They wore their new costumes for all concerts and programs during and after the Christmas season. They performed in the annual Christmas Concert.

Klefs and Keydets are advanced girls ensembles directed by Miss Mary Thompson. Klefs are chosen from the mixed choirs, and Keydets from Girls Choir. Both groups perform for school and community events and participate in the state music contest, where their rating is high.

This year Klefs and Keydets combined to perform for the Christmas Concert, a group pleasing to the ear as they sang a bright, new arrangement of "Jingle Bells." Klefs in green dresses and Keydets in red attracted the eyes as well as the ears of the concert audience.

Class choirs solved them

Junior Choir and Sophomore Choir, each with a membership of about forty, were directed by Mr. Walter Armbruster. Because of the unwieldy size of a combined-class choir, it was more practical for these two groups to practice and perform separately from the senior choir. They have appeared at both school and community functions and in the annual Christmas Concert and Spring Music Festival. Freshmen may train for more advanced groups if voices warrant it.

Junior Varsity Band, combined with Cadet Band, totaled twenty-five. Members were gaining enough skill to join Varsity Band.

Cadet Band is a training group for the other organizations. There is a system of promotion requiring cadets to earn the right to play in an advanced band.

Junior Varsity Band has joined the Varsity in some activities, especially athletic events.

like dances, stunts

All the fun that goes with games — that's what sports fans like.
At Homecoming time they worked like eager beavers on floats for the parade.
They decorated cars, dressed in crazy costumes, hoped the rain would hold off, and joined in all the hoopla.
Pep sessions were scarce enough all year long to be really appreciated.
Purple X open house dances after the game were considered a must — so much so that some people tried pretty hard to get in, legally or otherwise. Fans thought a game was more exciting if they could be munching on popcorn, gnawing on a hot dog, or balancing a coke. Refreshment crew, game ushers, ticket takers, hand-stampers were all a part of Thornton sports.

Ticket-takers were always busy when crowds came in. Mickey Wadolny, Jane Clem, Shirley Sailors, Mr. Williams, Sandy Toigo at the game have a problem.

Football 1960 was a successful season

Halfback John McKibben eludes Jerry Johnson of Thornridge on the Wildcats' first touchdown.

Thornton's 1960 football season will be remembered as successful but disgusting. Varsity, with only seven returning lettermen, was beaten only once and made the conference slate undefeated. Cats were inconsistent, relying on many long runs and passes to win six games, lose one, and tie two.

The season was disgusting in that the Wildcats had to settle for two conference ties and a close second place in South Suburban League.

Wildkits finished third in the conference, with a 5-2 record, and an over-all record of 5-4. The inexperienced Kits lost two games in a row early in the season by one point each.

Freshmen won four and lost two. Jayvees were spotty with a 2-2 record.

Reserve halfback Rich Grippando outruns Johnson of Thornridge in the first game between the schools.

All-state end Wilfred Henry looks for an opening after catching another pass from Bob Caress.

Wildcats started the season right as they traveled to Waukegan. There, led by Bob Caress, they upset the Bulldogs, 28-20. Next week, on a shift to reverse, Wildcats were beaten by Elgin, 13-7. Thornton's South Suburban League debut wasn't much more pleasant as the Wildcats held Joliet, league newcomer, to a 7-7 tie.

The first Thornton-Thornridge game was rather one-sided as the Cats "peeled the onions," 31-6, behind Henry's two quick touchdowns.

The annual Homecoming battle saw Wildcats tie Argo, eventual league champions, 6-6. DeBose's brilliant 77-yard run tied the score, but Caress's extra-point try was no good.

That always-thrilling Thornton-Bloom game was easily most exciting of the year. With less than five minutes to play and Bloom in a 7-0 lead, the Cats came alive to score their first touchdown. With fourteen seconds left, speedy halfback Ted Flournoy, who set up the first TD, went over with the winner, to put Thornton up, 14-7. Then, to top it off, when the Wildcats traveled to Kankakee, they staged a big, come-from-behind, 28-0 victory.

Coach Huddlestun uses an opaque projector to throw strategy outlines on a screen for team study.

Rain might dampen the spirits, but Homecoming fans were loyal.

An exciting moment in the game for cheerleader Merry Ring and student Warren Letzsch.

Varsity, J.V. squads produced results

Thornton's keys to success were the numerous long runs of junior halfbacks Ted Flournoy, Glenn Becker, John McKibben, and Henry DeBose; the versatility and brain of quarterback Bob Caress; and the fine defensive work and pass-receiving of Wilfred Henry. Added to these were the tireless defensive and blocking efforts of seniors Rich Tesar, John Klein, and Ted Czech, and of juniors Dennis Fillippo and Glenn Weaver. The five seniors were named to the All-South Suburban team. Wilfred Henry was named to the all-state team and Bob Caress got all-state honorable mention. Claude Kracik was chosen captain.

Jayvees lost their first game of the season to Joliet, 7-0, but came right back to trounce Kankakee, 44-0, as DeBose scored four touchdowns. They downed their final foe of the season, Blue Island, 26-0, after losing to Argo, 22-6.

Speedy halfback Ted Flournoy sprints 26 yards for the winning touchdown, with only 10 seconds to play in the Bloom game. Caress (36) and Klein (55) help.

Wildkits, under their new coaches Joe Keane and Barney Benedetto, started their season very slowly, losing their first three games.

They were hapless in losing to Waukegan by 26-0. They came back only to be edged by the Elgin Maroons, 20-19, and by Joliet, 7-6.

When the Kits did come back, however, they won five games in a row: Thornridge, 41-14; Argo, 19-7; Blue Island, 26-14; Lockport, 27-19; and Bloom, 41-0. They fell to KKK 14-7, to end with a 5-4 season record, and a 5-2 league record, making them third in the league.

Among the most valuable players were Jim Wilkerson and Tom Webster, halfbacks; Jim Swiatek, quarterback; Doug Shearer, fullback; and Tom Jones, place-kicker.

Thornton's freshman football team had a successful season, winning four and losing two. Under head coach Ted Czech and assistant coaches Bill Parker and Dick Bruno, they started the season off on the right foot by topping Kankakee, 6-0. Joliet, however, followed with a 27-6 win over Thornton. In their first game with Thornridge, Thornton's freshmen proved master as they grounded the little Falcons, 32-7.

The freshmen kept up their powerful ways as they clobbered Argo, 26-0. Blue Island disgustingly edged Thornton, 7-6, before the frosh ended their season with a 13-0 blanking of Lockport.

Deserving much credit for the successful season are speedy halfback Vernis Mims and their center, Roger Burgoyne.

to keep school spirit at high point

Pep Club, Game Ushers, Cheerleaders, and Lettermen's Club gave their services to make this year's events pleasant for everyone.

Pep Club, guardians of school spirit, organized a cheering section. All members wore white, sat in a special section, and cheered loudly. Pep Club sold tags, made banners, and won first place in the car division of Homecoming parade.

Game Ushers were responsible for keeping the crowds off the field or floor, "down in front", and in proper seats. Ushers wore bright yellow sweat shirts with black lettering.

Lettermen's Club represented all the boys who won athletic letters. They sold game programs during football and managed the refreshment concession in basketball season.

Cheerleaders, both Varsity and JV, with their sponsor, Miss Broo, worked hardest of all. Being always there and encouraging others, win or lose, took tremendous energy and loyalty.

Basketball goes out

"Two, four, six, eight, Thornton's going downstate! We're going ALL the way!" That was the battle chant as Wildcats ended their basketball season in a burst of glory, capturing second place in the state high school tourney at the University of Illinois, March 18.

A fabulous Collinsville quintet ended Thornton dreams of state championship by beating the Wildcats 85-50 in the final game.

Earlier in the season, after topping Fractional North and Sandburg, the Cats chalked up a victory over Blue Island to win the Thornton regional. In the B.I. sectional, the Cats beat St. Paul of Odell and avenged their two previous losses to Bloom, by beating that team 73-58. At the Hinsdale super-sectional they roped the Morton Mustangs to earn the trip to Champaign.

Once there, the Wildcats continued to baffle the experts as they beat Springfield in the quarter-finals and Marshall of Chicago, defending state champions, in the semi-finals, by two points each. These clutch victories earned for Thornton its silver second-place trophy.

in blaze of glory

Thornton's championship basketball team got a lion's share of tournament honors. Bob Caress and Leon Clark made the all-tournament team. Caress was awarded the Chicago Sun-Times Player-of-the-Year award. Clark was included among the top fifteen players in the state by the Champaign newspapers. Because of their excellent showing downstate, the team was given the Sun-Times Team-of-the-Year award, a credit to the entire squad.

Thornton's cheerleaders and fans made a good impression, too. The fans were the loudest and the cheerleaders were runners-up in the contest for best cheerleading squad.

The Trophy, symbol of Wildcat prowess.

A joyous squad, over the first disappointment of losing the final game, show what great sports they can be. It takes heart to reach the finals!

The 1961 basketball season was the best in more than a quarter of a century for Thornton. From the opening game victory over East Aurora to the loss to Collinsville in the state championship game, the Wildcats were impressive.

After the victory over East Aurora, the Cats rolled over Argo, LaGrange, Blue Island, and West Chicago before traveling to Chicago Heights to fall to ever-powerful Trojans, 70-69.

The unexpected upset by Bloom slowed the Wildcats temporarily as they had token trouble getting by Rich, Homewood-Flossmoor, and Lockport. The Cats came back, however, to wallop Joliet, Thornridge, and Kankakee.

Thornton edged Galesburg, 57-56, and again got by two other tough clubs, Argo and Blue Island, before the second Bloom-Thornton showdown. Thornton was again expected to win, but Bloom had other ideas and gained a 69-62 victory.

The Wildcats ended their regular season by beating Bradley and recording the second victories over Joliet, Thornridge, and Kankakee.

Ray Banks drives around all-state Bogie Redmon of Collinsville in the championship game.

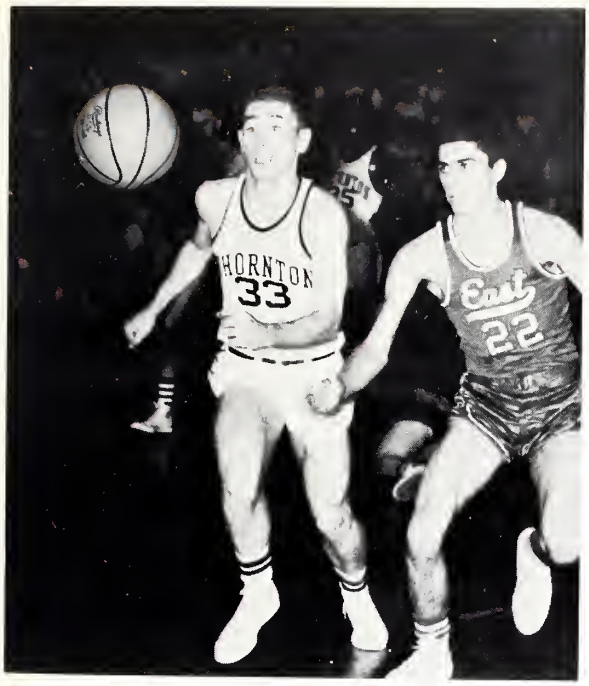
Thornton Wildcats ended the season with a 27-3 won-lost record. The only two teams that claimed victory over Thornton were Bloom (twice) and Collinsville.

Much credit should be given to Bill Purden, who did an outstanding job of coaching all season long and pulled the Cats through many close games with his excellent strategy. His assistant coach this year was Tom Hanrahan.

Leon Clark and Bob Caress, in addition to tournament honors, were selected to numerous all-area and all-state teams besides making the all-South Suburban League team. Ray Banks made the second all-league team. Jack Dabon was on the third all-SSL team.

Led by Clark, the league's best scorer and rebounder, and Caress, Thornton captain and playmaker, the Wildcats averaged 68 points a game while holding their opponents to 53.

These Wildcats, who shared the SSL title with Bloom, were expected to be good this year. They were! They lived up to all their expectations and then some!



Bob Caress, team captain and winner of the Sun-Times award, is determined to get the ball against Aurora.

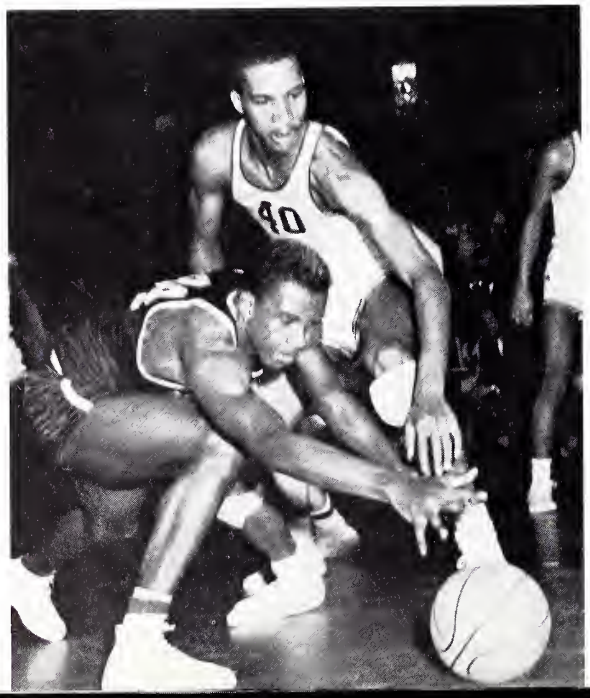
Sophs take third place in the conference

Wilfred Henry makes a desperate reach for the ball along with Ed Franklin of Marshall.



Coach Bob Anderson's Wildkits had another fine season, finishing third in the conference with a 10-4 record. Kits started the season by losing to East Aurora, but they came back to topple Argo, LaGrange, Blue Island, and West Chicago, before losing to Bloom. In holiday competition the Kits lost to Rich but beat Homewood-Flossmoor, the sole conqueror of that team.

Back in league play, the boys beat Lockport, Joliet, and Thornridge by substantial scores before they were edged by Kankakee, 41-40, in a real thriller. Argo fell to Thornton again, before Blue Island came from behind to beat the Kits in the midst of some disputed fourth-quarter plays. Kits triumphed over Bloom, Lockport, and Bradley before they were snowed by Joliet. They ended the season by knocking off both Thornridge and Kankakee.

Frosh lose only one game all season

Thornton's freshman basketball team was coached by Don Williams and Bill Parker. Had they averted an upset by Lockport, 40-43, they would have gone unbeaten. As it was, they won 14 and lost one.

Wildkits started the season off with a bang by trouncing Argo 44-40, Blue Island 60-44, Homewood 46-26, Marion 57-52, and Lockport 56-49. After a fine start the Wildkits still continued on their winning streak by conquering Joliet 43-33, Thornridge 37-21, Kankakee (West) 33-32, Argo 48-29, Blue Island 51-37, and Thornton Fractional South 66-50. With spirits high, they went on to mangle Marion 51-47, Thornridge 55-31, and Kankakee (East) 37-35, to finish the season with a 14-1 record.

Valuable players were Arthur Taylor and LeRoy Brody co-captains, Bob Jackson, Vern Mims, Bill Hardlannert, and Pat Petrow.

Thornton's fifteen-year reign as South Suburban area's number one swim team came to an abrupt halt this season, but one of Thornton's best frosh-soph swim teams gives hope of regaining the throne soon. For the first time since 1945, the Catfish did not win the SS league championship; for the first time in three years, Thornton did not score points in the state meet; and for the first time in area history, Thornton was beaten by an area opponent.

Catfish ended the season with a 7-5 record. They beat Thornton Fractional South 59-27; Carl Sandburg twice, 56-30; 55-31; Thornridge twice, 62-33, 46-40; Argo, 47-39; and Lockport, 56-30.

Thornton's losses were to powerful Hinsdale, 16-63; Bremen, 35-60; Morton, 41-45; Elgin, 31-54; Riverside-Brookfield, 16-70. Catfish were coached by Mel DeGraff, dean of boys and former frosh-soph coach, replacing Frank Froschauer, now athletic director at Thornridge.

Thornton's frosh-soph swimmers, under new coach John Benedetto, had an excellent season. They lost only to Hinsdale and Riverside-Brookfield and won the SSL frosh-soph title.

Matcats began the season with a string of losses but came back to a winning streak.

They lost to Morton East, 12-26; Oak Lawn, 21-30; and New Trier, 16-31. Then, under the direction of Coach Ted Czech, they came back to tie Blue Island, 26-26, and record victories over Lockport, 25-23; Oswego, 28-16; LaGrange, 24-20; Joliet, 25-19; Thornridge, 44-0; Kankakee, 41-3; Carl Sandburg, 34-11; and Argo, 36-8. They bowed to Evergreen Park, 15-28.

In the South Suburban meet at Lockport, Thornton again took all the honors, finishing eighteen points ahead of Lockport, the runner-up.

Matcats won the district tournament, qualifying 11 wrestlers for the sectional, in which they finished fourth. In the state tournament, Ed Bishop (112) lost in the first round, but Steve Galbreth (127) took third, and Jerry Torrance (138) took the state championship.

Frosh-Soph wrestling team, under Coach Richard Bruno, had a 5-7 won-lost record. Matkits tied for fifth place in the conference meet.

Deserving special recognition were Dave Kolton, conference champ; Walter Sanders, second.

State Champ Jerry Torrance, in 138 pound class, won 29 of his 30 matches this year.

At state meets, the team was ranked thirteenth. Individual honors went to Butch Kaminski, eighth on the horizontal bar and ten in tumbling; to Al Verley, ninth on trampoline; and to Ken Wiegand, eleventh on parallel bars. Team member with the highest personal points total was Butch Kaminski—192½ for the season. Wayne Bishop and Curt Hahn were second and third with 132 and 113½ respectively.

Frosh-Sophs finished with a five and five total. Jerry Sparger won fourth place on the side horse at the state frosh meet. Jim Forbes totaled 231 points for the season.

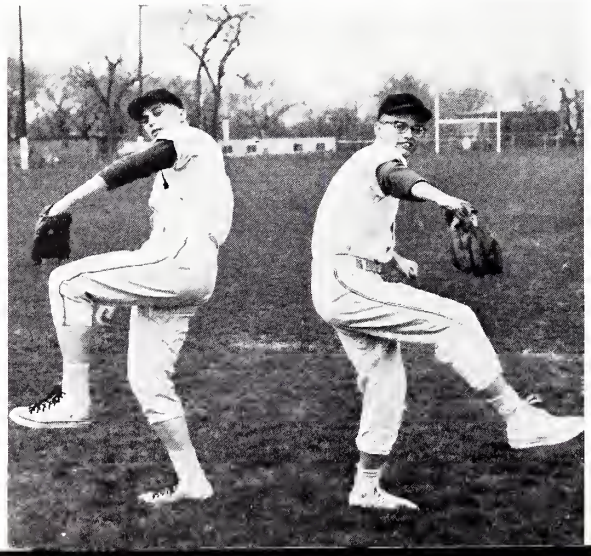
Baseball teams add

Thornton's varsity baseball team, under the direction of coach Bob Blaha, bid for its third South Suburban league title in the past four years and a better showing in the state tournament as the cry "Play Ball' came with spring.

SSL was stronger this year but Coach Blaha had reason to look forward to the 1961 season with three all-conference players—Bob Caress, Dave Falica, and Claude Kracik—plus several other lettermen, returning.

Pitching practice—Al Dehnert, Gil Schultz wind up.



Falica behind the plate, mound fixtures Gil Schultz, Al Dehnert, and Jay Stanwich, Caress at first, John Kwasny at second, Kracik at shortstop, Mike Podgorny at third, and Barney Arendt, Chuck White, and Ed Kennedy in the outfield gave the Batcats a solid starting lineup at the beginning of the season. The second team cannot go without mention, however, as they tied the first team in an intra-squad game.

The 1960 season was a banner year for the stickmen as they finished with an overall record of 9-3, 6-0 in the league. They went on to win the conference championship but lost a heartbreaker to a strong TF South team, 5-4, in the first game of the district tourney to end state tournament hopes.

A 10-1 licking of Homewood-Flossmoor, and 10-0, 10-0, 6-0 whitewashes of Bloom, Kankakee, and Joliet respectively, were the highlights of the 1960 season.

New Frosh-Soph baseball coaches Joe Keane and Don Williams looked forward to a good season this spring. A promising group of freshmen gave reason for optimism even though only one of last year's standouts returned.

Last year, under coaches Ron Ferguson and Bill Purden, the Kits ended the season with a respectable 4-2 conference won-lost record and a mediocre 6-5 overall record. They scored one-run victories over Bloom, Blue Island, and Kankakee before trouncing Lockport 8-4 and losing one-run decisions to Joliet and Argo. Two victories over Homewood-Flossmoor, 5-0 and 8-3, preceded disappointing one-run losses to Morton and TF, twice, to end the season.

Track teams open season with Hopes were high for the 1961 record of Thornton's varsity cindermen, who had several of last year's lettermen returning.

Brightening the picture for head coach Frank Bauman were Wil Henry, whose specialty is the high hurdles, and Ray Banks, who qualified for state in 1960 and is a standout in the high jump, broad jump, and relays. Both of these boys were due to break records this year.

Juniors Steve Smith, Henry DeBose, John McKibben, and Leon Clark, plus sophomore Paul Congo point to good things in 1962 for cindermen.

Last year Thornton's track team ended with a fine overall record of 5-1. They gained dual meet victories over Rich, Kankakee, and Blue Island. They scored triangular victories over Assistant coaches were Dick Foerch, Ted Czech, and Bill Hayse.

Prospects were also good this year for frosh-soph track with many promising freshmen. Sophomore standouts were Jim Wilkerson, Tom Webster, Dave Kolton, George and Don Vander-Heiden.

That competition would be tough was the prediction of Coach Bauman as the 1961 season opened. Blue Island, Joliet, and Bloom would fall hard, they said, even if Wilkerson and Webster moved up to varsity.

Last spring (1960) the frosh-soph took second in the SSL meet and had a 4-2 record.

Wil Henry runs the low hurdles indoors because spring was late this year and teams couldn't go outside.

Tennis prospects at TTHS this spring were bolstered by three returning lettermen—Jack Grzesik, Clark Hallman, and Fred Langenberg. Coach Robert Sutor took over both teams. The 1960 varsity record showed 7 wins, 8 losses, one tie. Outstanding player, Norbert Loose, earned second in conference, second in district, but lost in first state rounds.

In golf, Ken Bartosh, one of the finest in the state, made his bid for high honors, both individual and team. Also returning was Gary Robertson. Together they made coach John Benedetto's first year with the team a pleasant one. Frank Froschauer, former coach, moved to Thornridge when the schools divided.

Cross-country, the fall version of track, is a rapidly improving sport at Thornton under the leadership of coach Dick Foerch. This season the varsity, behind veteran performers Vic Horsfall and Bob Lynch, won five and lost only two, to finish fourth in conference and eighth in district. Frosh-Soph, with fine runners Don and Dan Masterson, took eighth in district, in state, and in the St. Charles invitational.

GAA provided varied sports for girls

In the Homecoming parade, GAA entered a float that was a real winner. Other projects were the awards assembly, four sport seasons, and a party at Christmas.

To make sure girls have good posture, GAA sponsors an annual posture contest. This year's Posture Queen, Merry Ring, was announced at the banquet on February 1.

"Tropical Heatwave", theme for GAA date night April 15, was a huge success. Girls and their dates enjoyed swimming, volleyball, shuffleboard, trampoline, badminton, table tennis, and dancing. This was a night to see who could play better, boys or girls. Refreshments were served.

Girls Athletic Association, with approximately three hundred members, is sponsored by Miss Shirley Andrews. GAA provides extra-curricular sports activities varied enough to satisfy all girls. There is no limit to the number each girl may enter.

Each sports season has eight weeks of a sport, such as volleyball, tennis, swimming, trampoline, bowling, softball, basketball, and that newest addition, Orchesis, modern dance club.

A girl becomes a member of GAA by completing one sports season. She receives awards according to the number of completed seasons; for one season, an emblem; for three, numerals; for five, small "T"; for nine, the letters GAA; and for nine plus extraordinary work, a big "T".

Boys'

Boys' intramurals provide sports activities for boys not in regular athletics. Since all competition is within the school instead of between schools, many boys try out for intramurals, about 300 to 500 a year.

Teams are known as the Round Robin League, with all four classes represented. Thirty-six to forty teams were formed this year.

Games began in mid-September and extended through May, with three contests each night.

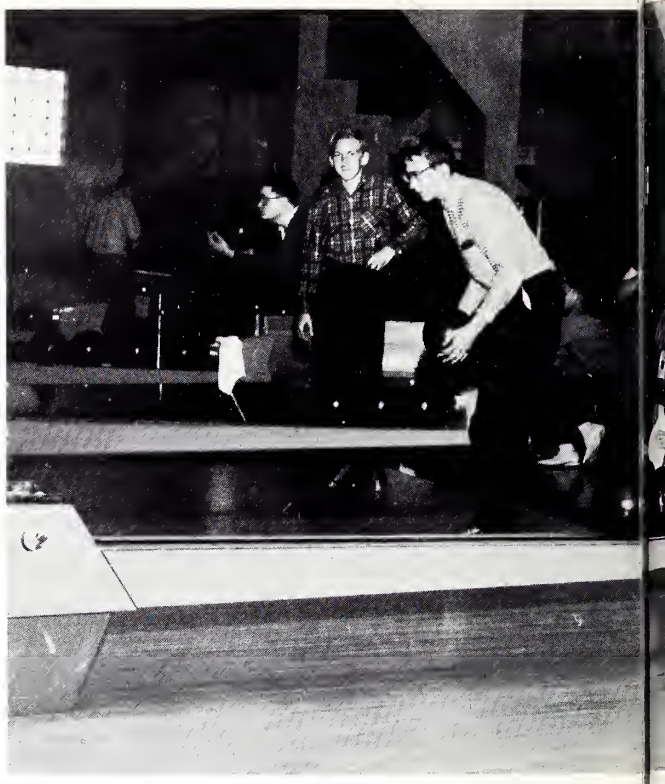
Besides swimming and basketball in the fall, boys participated in chess, checkers, table tennis, and shuffleboard during the winter.

In the spring there were wrestling, softball, golf, tennis, and badminton.

During a Round Robin series, boys played games in which they eliminated a good number of teams. The outcome was to have only top teams remaining in the series.

At the end of the seasons, each player on a top team received a trophy.

Mr. Carl Mendenhall, as head of Boys PE, was director. Although boys do not have an association, there is plenty of sports interest.



Bowling—Raymond Heintz and Jack Ippel wait their turn as John Powers checks with Dave Chrisman and Ralph Niemann to be sure of his schore.

Champs in another series were Charles Halbert, Percy Duckworth (front), James Harris, Earnest Cole, and Douglas Holloway (rear) from Miss Miles' homeroom.

PERSONALITIES

What can be more interesting than people—all sorts of people—and that's what Thornton has plenty of. A balance of chiefs and indians makes a good school.

Superintendent, Board make policies

It takes a lot of organization to operate a school system like that in Thornton Township. At the top are the Board of Education and the Superintendent. Together they make policies for the three schools—Thornton Junior College, Thornton Township High School, and Thornridge High School.

Dr. James D. Logsdon, superintendent, has made of Thornton a wide-awake school with an interest in national school affairs. He is actively concerned with American education. As president-elect of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, he has spoken before the state principals groups of Louisiana, Kentucky, Oklahoma, and Iowa.

He was keynote speaker at the School Administration Round-up, Illinois State Normal University, in December. Last July he attended the two-week School Administration Conference at the University of Oregon. He has served on the advisory committee authorized by the National Defense Education Act, and he meets regularly with the Committee on Instruction of the National Education Association.

The Board of Education has a responsibility that calls for vision and judgment and just plain hard work. Because its members have manifested all three of these traits, it is molding the schools of the district into three well-coordinated units.

SUPERINTENDENT. Dr. James D. Logsdon is superintendent of the three schools of Thornton Township.

BOARD OF EDUCATION. Seated: Mrs. Robert C. Pebworth, Mr. Fred T. Ehlert, president, Mr. Harold J. Gouwens, Mr. Lou Boudreau. Standing: Mr. Henry Vandenberg, Mr. Robert H. Reese, Mr. Herbert G. Greiner.

Legal, business counsel handle problems

Principal advisers to the Board of Education are the school attorney and the township treasurer. The attorney advises where contracts and legal procedures are involved and interprets school laws. The township treasurer receives district funds and pays them out when so authorized by the school board.

COUNSEL. Mr. Burton Evans, school attorney; Mr. A. F. Waldschmidt, township treasurer.

As business manager and purchasing agent for all three schools, Mr. Peterson has a big job. In his office are kept the books for all school organizations. The two bookstores at Thornton and Thornridge are under his jurisdiction. Pay checks for staff and faculty are made out here and school bills paid.

BUSINESS MANAGER. Mr. J. A. Peterson, business manager and purchasing agent for the three schools.

PRINCIPAL
Mr. O. W. Renfrow

Principal, counselors, deans

ASSISTANT TO THE PRINCIPAL
Mr. G. R. Valbert

COLLEGE COUNSELOR
Mr. Carl Beier. Helping college-bound students was a full-time job.

DEAN OF GIRLS. Miss Helene E. Wilson.

DEAN OF BOYS. Mr. Mel DeGraff.

administer faculty, student affairs

Chief responsibility of Thornton's principal is to formulate ideas on the improvement of the school and to see that the plans are carried out. He has two faculty groups to help him—department chairmen and the Principal's Advisory Committee. Each group has a representative from each department, but with no duplications of personnel.

He works closely with student organizations such as KIP, Purple X, Boys Club, and Girls Club. He attends club meetings and talks with individuals or groups of students to discuss school problems. He is making a sustained effort to publicize Thornton activities in community newspapers and to improve public relations within the Thornton district.

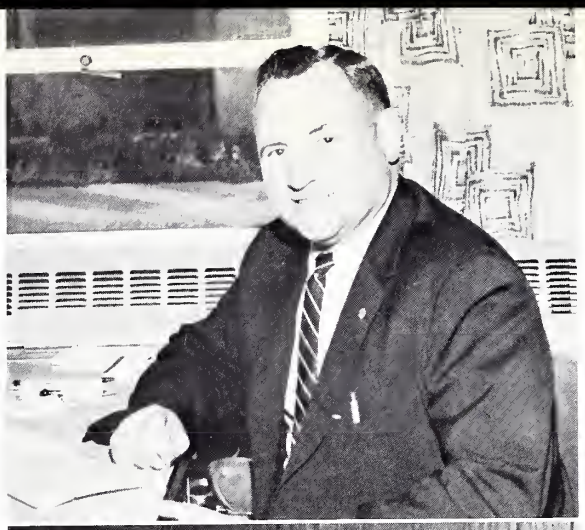
The vice-principal takes care of many routine administrative matters. His office obtains substitutes for faculty members who must be absent from class. Bus schedules and routes are made up there. He approves the items on the daily bulletin and the calendar of student activities.

Since colleges are constantly becoming more selective of their students, TTHS now has a counselor whose chief duty is to help Thorntonites meet the requirements of the schools of their choice and to advise them on courses and finances.

The two deans handle discipline problems and are sponsors of two of Thornton's biggest organizations—Girls Club and Boys Club.

The dean of girls devotes all of her time to the welfare of Thornton girls. She talks to them individually about their personal and academic problems and takes care of discipline cases as needed. As sponsor of the Girls Club she helps the officers plan the year's activities.

Dean of boys is responsible for welfare and discipline of the boys of Thornton. He is a sponsor of the Boys Club and of the Hall Guards and Bus Guards. Since the present dean, Mr. De Graff, still coaches a swim team, he has a part-time assistant, Mr. Robert Anderson of the Business Education department.



FRESHMAN COUNSELOR—Mr. George D. Lercher

SOPHOMORE COUNSELOR—Miss Marthalou Gray

JUNIOR COUNSELOR—Mrs. Ruth J. Harms

Class counselors serve the student body in an advisory capacity and handle some of the less serious discipline cases.

Freshman counselor is in touch with the grade schools whose students will come to Thornton. He helps their teachers orient incoming freshmen.

Because the first year offers few choices in curriculum, sophomores are often puzzled about what to take among so many possibilities. Sophomore counselor helps them to decide.

With the junior year students are past the half-way mark and beginning to think of graduation and perhaps college. This is the time to make certain that credits are in order and that deficiencies can still be made up. Junior class counselor gives sound advice on these matters.

Senior counselor sees to it that all his class know whether they can meet graduation requirements. He supervises officers and senate in matters purely senior—measuring for caps and gowns, choosing announcements, producing the senior play, and organizing the prom.

Class Counselors,

BUSINESS OFFICE. Miss Harriet Burton, Mrs. Hazel Estes, Mrs. Margaret Kleckner.

OFFICE PERSONNEL

Business office serves both students and faculty. Over the counter in this office and through the window of its auxiliary, the school bookstore, most student business is transacted—bus tickets, rental fees, insurance, and identification cards, to name a few. All organizations which sell tickets deposit their money here. Bills payable and bills receivable on all club accounts, newspaper, yearbook, and the like are serviced. Faculty cash checks, turn in requisitions and budget estimates, have papers notarized, and generally conduct a lot of business.

Main office is the center of faculty activity because of mailboxes. Letters may be sent, postage estimated, notes or notices to other faculty deposited, and communications sent to or received from Thornridge. Weekly attendance reports, athletic eligibility lists, and grade cards may be deposited.

MAIN OFFICE. Seated: Mrs. Sally Simon, Miss Marian Finchum, Mrs. Liona Segraves, Miss Nancy Schoeler. Standing: Mrs. Mildred Haddix, Mrs. Janet DeGroot, Mrs. Geneva Denham, Miss Dora Harthun.

REGISTRAR'S OFFICE. Mrs. Leona Wiener, Mrs. Lucille Blessing, Mrs. Thelma Larson.

REGISTRAR

Individual records of every student in school and of all students who have attended Thornton are kept in the registrar's files. Supplementary grades are mailed from this office. Three busy women order diplomas, issue work permits, type program changes, and send transcripts of grades to colleges and universities. They also work closely with the class counselors, supplying helpful information. This year copies of student grades were sent to homeroom teachers, deans, and class counselors.

Cafeteria staff totaled fifteen members. Women worked from eight to four o'clock every day to prepare lunches for the student and faculty cafeterias. They also prepared and served the banquets for student affairs. Besides regular lunches, the staff made about 500 salads and 600 sandwiches every day. Thorntonites consumed approximately 2250 cartons of milk per day. Most popular hot lunches had frankfurters, hamburgers, or meat loaf. A new milk cooler was added to cafeteria equipment this year.

BUILDINGS, GROUNDS

Thornton's building and grounds crew is in action twenty-four hours a day under the supervision of Mr. Howard Doster and Mrs. Irene Williams. There is a day crew with special men to take care of heating and lighting, carpenters to build book shelves and lecterns, and handy men to repair broken blinds and change locker combinations. Women are on duty to clean girls washrooms and offices. Three men take care of outside grounds all year around. Someone is always on duty in the boiler room to watch the heating and swimming pool systems. The gym keeps five men busy there daily. After four o'clock, fifteen men come on duty to clean rooms and wash blackboards. Watchmen during early morning complete the cycle.

BUILDING SUPERINTENDENT. Mrs. Irene Williams, secretary; Mr. Howard Doster, superintendent of buildings, grounds.

NHS members chosen

Members of National Honor Society are elected from the upper twenty-five per cent of the junior and senior classes. On the basis of scholarship, citizenship, leadership, and service, plus recommendation of faculty members, up to five per cent of the juniors and ten per cent of the seniors may be elected each spring. Their names are announced and they receive their pins and membership cards at Honors Day assembly in June.

Students elected in their junior year take an active part in electing officers, holding meetings, and working on projects during their senior year. This year's effort was to assist Social Studies I teachers in the registration of freshman students for their sophomore year.

Becoming a member of National Honor Society is one of the highest recognitions a student can receive.

Senior officers guide class affairs

Graduation ushers and guides are selected from the junior class according to their scholastic standing. The 1960 graduation ushers were the top twenty-six juniors from Thornton and Thornridge. The guides were the two highest ranking girls of that group. This year, ushers and guides were selected separately from their own schools.

These juniors devote many hours to graduation practice with the seniors. The ushers' chief function is seating of the audience on the night of commencement and establishing the line of march for the graduates. Guides, with two faculty marshals chosen by the senior class officers, lead the procession on graduation night as well as at Honors Day and Flag Day assemblies.

Year-end activities are all-school

On Honors Day a special all-school assembly is called to pay tribute to outstanding students of Thornton. This is the time when the winners of the long-sought college scholarships are announced. During the assembly seniors sit on the main floor as they have done for all other assemblies throughout the year, but now they wear caps and gowns.

Awards are presented for athletics, music, art, foreign language, and scholarship.

Highlight of the assembly is the announcement of newly elected members to National Honor Society. Gold tassels are seen bobbing up and down as old members congratulate the new ones. After the assembly, a tea is given in honor of new members and their parents.

HONORS DAY—Seniors and Juniors, alike, were thrilled with their newly acquired Honor Society pins.

Flag Day ceremony is a Thornton tradition in special favor with seniors because it is the first time they wear their caps and gowns. The ceremony was initiated when the Senior Class of 1914 gave the junior class a flag pole and a Flag. Since that time it has been a custom for the senior class president to present the junior class president with the Flag to care for during the following year.

The 1960 Flag Day ceremony was opened with an address from Mr. Beier, senior class counselor. In keeping with tradition, Betty Jankowski, a junior, read the history of the Flag and Jaan Walther, a senior, recited the poem "The Flag." After the presentation, the two presidents raised the Flag together.

Staff thanks its top-notch helpers

It takes a lot of people to produce a good yearbook—an enthusiastic student body, a cooperative faculty, a hard-working staff, and a skilled technical crew.

To that technical crew—the commercial people who helped us produce this book—the staff and adviser of the 1961 THORNTONITE acknowledge their thanks:

Mr. E. C. Hackleman, yearbook consultant for this and all the other THORNTONITES since 1948; Mr. Ralph VanDyke, artist who made the page layouts. From the Root Studio, Mr. Pat Cornejo, who took most of the pictures, Mr. J. J. Juby, who made the portraits, plus Mr. Dohmke and Mrs. Brooks and the rest of the staff for their excellent service. Then there are Mr. Bill Snell of S. K. Smith Company, whom we heckled about the covers, and the printers of Foote and Davies, who rolled the presses.

We also thank Mr. Ed Olson, faculty adviser of the school newspaper, for loaning us his editor, Don Erickson, to write the sports copy, and Tom Renner, who gave us pictures from the state basketball tournament.

We put in our own names, too, so you won't forget who we are—Dawn Baran, Karen Brunke, Karen Carraro, Nancy Fraser, Barbara Jarecki, Linda Lilley, Valerie Ludewig (first semester), Judy Ryktarczyk, Diane Tromp (staff members) and Miss Dorothy Washburn (faculty adviser).

ENTHUSIASM we needed, such as these ushers at the variety show, "KIDS", gave us.
